DEMOCRATS SWEEP CITY, COUNTY

Parente Is Winner in Landslide

Hugo J. Parente

Democratic Mayor Hugo J. Parente piled up his largest vote and greatest majority in winning an unprecedented fourth term in yesterday's general election. The entire City Hall slate-with practically no opposition-was also swept into office.

Despite rain, about 80 per cent of Monessen's 10,500 registered voters went to the polls and gave Parente a 3,945 majority over his Republican opponent, John R. Stieska, a businessman. The unofficial count for mayor showed:

Parente	5,843
Stieska	1,898

It was the second battle of the year between Parente and Stieska, a registered Democrat. Parente won the Democratic nomination in the May primary by defeating Stieska by over 1,400 votes. Stieska defeated Parente for the Republican nomination on write-in and sticker votes.

The only other Monessen mayor to serve three terms was the late Carl Woodward. He was the first man to be elected mayor after Monessen became a third class city in the 1920's and the only Republican to hold the office.

Three members of the City Hall slate were reelected. Treasurer John Spielman, who won both nominations, led the vote-getting for all City offices, receiving a combined total of 7,364.

Controller James Tucci, who also won both nominations, polled a total of 7,116 votes.

In the Council contest, John Molnar, another two-party winner, and John Harhai, Third Ward alderman and former local teacher, were easy winners. Their only opposition was William Snyder, a registered Democrat who won the Republican nomination. Unofficial figures for Council showed.

Molnar	6,598
Harhai	5,904
Snyder	2,306

Emil Beck and Dr. Joseph M. Dudas, incumbent, were winners in the three-man fight for school director. Clifford Learnard, another registered Democrat who won a Republican nomination, was the other aspirant. The tally showed:

Beck	6,745
Dudas	5,829
Learnard	1,714

John B. Sucevic was elected alderman of the Third Ward without opposition. He received 1,242 votes.

In commenting on his victory today, Parente said he considered it an endorsement of the "progress" which formed the theme of his campaign. He added:

"The City intends to keep prog-

Reilly Captures Fayette County Orphans' Court

Attorney James A. Reilly, Democrat, easily won the Fayette County Orphans' Court judgeship over incumbent Judge Ross S. Matthews, running as a Republican, by an unofficial total of 8998 votes yesterday.

President Judge W. Russell Carr, nominated on both tickets, received a two-party total vote of 46,335.

James Gleason and James Robinson, officially reelected in the primary as jury commissioners, also received votes of confidence yesterday. Gleason pulled 30,241 and Robinson, Republican, 15,278.

Judge Matthews, a life-long Democrat, was running as a Republican. In a three-way contest in the primary Reilly defeated Judge Matthews and Attorney Anthony Cavalcante for the Democratic nomination.

Reilly's vote was 28,593 to Matthews' 19,595.

In the county-wide voting on the two Amendment questions, both won favor by large majorities despite the fact that many voters failed to express an opinion.

Three Are Hurt In Accidents

Three men were hurt in different accidents in the district yesterday.

Samuel Means, 48, Fayette City, suffered a fractured rib in a fall while at work on a Pittsburgh & Lake Erie boxcar.

John Fokol, 68, West Brownsville, fell on a flight of stairs.

Both are listed in good condition in Brownsville Hospital.

John Schirko, 43, Pittsburgh, was treated for a head cut at Uniontown Hospital after being struck by a flying piece of slate while working on a construction job in Uniontown.

Khrushchev Claims 'Capitalist' Order to Perish in Next War

MOSCOW (UP) — Soviet Communist Party Leader Nikita S. Khrushchev said today new Soviet technical advances meant the "capitalist order will perish" if a new war breaks out.

"But we are not striving to victory by such a path" he told a special meeting of the Supreme Soviet (parliament) attended by Communist leaders from throughout the world.

"Relying on war," he told the cheering audience at the Luzhniki indoor sports stadium "would be anti-moral and would be contrary to our Communist world outlook."

Khrushchev ridiculed American efforts to catch up with a Soviet technology which already has perfected the intercontinental ballistics missile and sent two artificial earth satellites hurtling into space.

Khrushchev mentioned the forthcoming—Paris meeting of NATO during a three hour and five minute major policy address to the jubilee session of the Supreme Soviet. President Eisenhower is to attend the NATO meeting.

Then he called for a "high level meeting of representatives of capitalist and socialist countries so as to reach agreement on excluding war as a means of solving political questions."

Khrushchev said imperialist forces were "as (Secretary of State John Foster) Dulles put it, keeping the world on the brink of war."

"Even the launching of the Sputnik has been used by the imperialists to sound the alarm," he said.

"We solemnly declare that our people has never thought and does not think to use any means of destruction if our country is not subjected to an attack by imperialist states."

"A new war would produce enormous devastation and capitalism would perish," Khrushchev said. "We are convinced that as a result of a new war the capitalist order will perish."

But he said war was not necessary.

His marathon speech was delivered in two sections. He spoke for about two hours and then resumed after a 30-minute rest. All 13 members of the Presidium were on the speakers stage with such visiting Communists as China's Mao Tze-tung and Poland's Wladyslaw Gomulka.

Lazar Kaganovich and Dmitri Shepilov, two former members of the Presidium who were disgraced last June with Vyacheslav Molotov and Georgi Malenkov, were

Man Says He Talked With 'Space Shippers'

KEARNEY, Neb. (UP) — Authorities today held a "heart to heart" talk with a salesman, later discovered to be an ex-convict, who claimed he chatted with four men and two women in a transparent "space ship."

The report by Reinhold O. Schmidt, 48, of Bakersfield, Calif., Tuesday night was the most dramatic of a host of unidentified flying object sightings reported around the country.

Schmidt's tale, as strange as any science-fiction story, stirred considerable excitement in the Kearney area for a time. Police roped off the spot where the "Whatnik" allegedly landed and examined various impressions and oil stains on the ground.

But curiosity turned to skepticism when Scottsbluff County Sheriff Steve Warrick revealed that Schmidt, a former potato buyer in Scottsbluff, Neb., was a former convict who served time in the Nebraska Penitentiary for embezzlement.

However, Schmidt stuck by his story. Police said they held a "heart to heart" talk with Schmidt Tuesday night and planned further questioning today.

Asked for Pastor

Schmidt, a grain buyer for Val-U-Pak Co. of Brawley, Calif., appeared in Kearney late Tuesday, white-faced and shaken, and asked to see a minister. He said he was driving near Kearney on a grain-buying expedition when he spotted an object that looked like a Navy blimp.

He said the four men and two women in the object spoke English and German, wore conventional clothes and appeared to be in their 40s.

The salesman said his car engine died when he approached the object, which stood on four posts.

"I got out and walked closer—about 25 or 30 feet from it," Schmidt said. "Two men came out and came toward me. One waved what looked like a flashlight which glowed for a second. I couldn't move. I don't know whether I

GOP Burgess Wins Election In Brownsville

Brownsville's Democratic burgess, Paul Thomas Jr., was upset yesterday by Republican Marion Klingensmith in a closely-contested race.

Klingensmith polled 1421 votes, compared to 1226 by Thomas.

Reportedly a faction of the Democratic party, headed by W. J. (Billy) Long, supported Klingensmith.

The Republicans also won two seats on borough council and reelected Mrs. Alice S. Hatfield to another four-year term as tax collector.

Republican councilmen were elected over their Democratic rivals in both the Second and Third Wards. In the Second Ward John Fenwick defeated John Dorsey, the Democratic candidate 275 to 224, and in the Third Ward Charles W. Strawn, Republican was victorious over Marion V. Whetsel, Democrat, 391 to 276.

Mrs. Hatfield defeated Alex Restina 1605 to 966 for a majority of 639 votes.

In all other contests the Democrats won by comfortable margins.

Two Democratic candidates were elected for the two vacancies on the Borough school board over another Democrat and the lone Republican candidate. The results according to unofficial returns were: S. J. Rodgers (D) 1765; Hyman Grossman (D) 1517; Howard F. Powell (D) 883 and Phillip R. Johns (R) 731.

Ike Will Make TV Address to Nation Tomorrow

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower appeared ready today to give the nation as frank an appraisal of U.S. missile strength as security will permit in his televised address Thursday night.

Officials disclosed that Eisenhower has had Defense Department experts preparing for him detailed data on American missile performance compared with that of Russia's new space-conquering rockets.

The President decided with dramatic suddenness Tuesday night to speak to the nation from the White House on the same day that the Russians celebrate the 40th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution.

That is the occasion on which the Soviets are expected to announce any new technological achievements as a follow-up to their two space satellites. It also is the time that they put on a massive display of their military might.

Planned Speech Later

Eisenhower originally had planned to deliver his speech, to be entitled "Science and Security," at Oklahoma City Nov. 13. The White House said the address would be "of major importance."

The White House did not say why the President changed the timing of his speech. But he apparently wanted to be ready to quickly counter any announcement

Two Accidents In the Area; Two Are Hurt

Two traffic accidents occurred in the district yesterday, state police reported today.

Charles J. McConnell, 25, Mt. Pleasant, was in fair condition in Monongahela Memorial Hospital today following injuries received yesterday afternoon when his car failed to round a sharp curve, ran off Route 31, and in turn struck a neon sign, utility pole and parked car.

McConnell suffered shock and deep cuts about the neck.

The accident occurred three miles west of West Newton on the road to Mt. Pleasant

Belle Vernon state police said the auto sheared off a utility pole after hitting the sign, then careened into a parked auto owned by Alexander Hamilton, R. D. 1, West Newton.

Damage was estimated at $900.

A New Eagle man was slightly injured at 1 a.m. yesterday in the collision of two tractor-trailer rigs on a secondary road two miles east of Elizabeth.

Police said trucks driven by Eugene Johnson, 27, of Irwin, and Robert W. Colter, 31, New Eagle, collided when the Johnson rig skidded. Damage totaled $2,500.

Colter was later treated in the office of a physician for a cut of the scalp.

FBI Probing Seizing of Slots

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents today began investigating the case of three slot machines seized by California police last Friday.

The machines were discovered by police while two men were working on the one-armed bandits in the underbrush along a Daisytown road. The machines are owned by the City Coin Machine Co. of Pittsburgh and were being distributed by the Globe Coin Co. of Canonsburg.

California Police Chief Robert Elliott has asked the Washington County court for permission to destroy the machines.

Bauer, Weiss Sculco Judges; Rial Tops GOP

Westmoreland County's Democratic courthouse machine, working with usual precision, carried its entire ticket to a comfortable but hardly spectacular victory yesterday.

The Democrats elected three common pleas judges, a district attorney, prothonotary, clerk of courts and coroner.

Judge Edward G. Bauer led the judicial ticket to win a second ten-year term.

Elected with him were Judge David H. Weiss, of Monessen, now serving by appointment, and District Attorney L. Alexander Sculco.

The Democratic registration majority of 51,000 was reduced sharply by ticket-splitting. But as usual it proved too great an obstacle for the Republican candidates and a weak GOP organization to overcome.

Rial Tops GOP

Sculco, who was running third on the judicial ticket on the basis of incomplete unofficial returns, had a lead of about 9,000 over Robert H. Rial, who appeared to be the top Republican.

Rial was followed closely by Avra N. Pershing Jr. Willis E. Topper, the third GOP candidate, was trailing the field.

With 268 of the county's 270 precincts reported, the unofficial figures were:

Bauer	66,906
Weiss	60,664
Sculco	59,012
Rial	50,106
Pershing	48,689
Topper	43,601

Earl S. Keim, of Greensburg, now an assistant district attorney, will succeed Sculco as D.A. Keim easily defeated Republican Wayne R. Donahue, of New Kensington, to continue Democratic control of law enforcement in the county.

With 267 precincts reported in the D. A. contest, the returns showed:

Keim	67,278
Donahue	43,400

Stephen D. Yoney, Monessen funeral director, won election to a full term as coroner. Now serving in that office by appointment, Yoney defeated Republican Joseph R. Hunter, of Latrobe, 59,962 to 41,725 with 255 districts reported unofficially.

Other Democratic victors were Prothonotary Leo Sukala and Howard M. Bricker for clerk of courts. Bricker, a former Republican who bucked the courthouse organization to win the primary nomination, was leading the Democratic ticket.

Dora M. Dunn, Democrat, was reelected jury commissioner along with the Republican candidate, Margaret R. Henderson.

The Democrats jumped off to an early lead last night after the polls closed and gradually increased it as the returns kept coming in. About 70 per cent of the county's registered voters went to the polls, considered a good turnout in rainy weather.

Planning Meeting

A meeting of the Monessen Planning Commission will be held tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in the City Building. The public is free to attend the meeting.

Pricedale Fire Damage Slight

Negligible damage was reported by North Belle Vernon and Belle Vernon firemen as a result of a fire at the home of Alvic Stover, of Newell Ave., Pricedale, early today.

Firemen said they answered the alarm at 6 a. m. and found a blaze in the kitchen of the building. The flames were starting to spread to the attic of the two-room frame house.

Using booster hoses, firemen snuffed out the flames after an hour's fight. The kitchen wall and part of the attic were slightly damaged, firemen said.

A defective heating stove was believed to have caused the fire.

Youth Remains in 'Critical' Condition

Thomas Steer Jr., 16, of 921 Summit Ave., Monessen, remained in "critical" condition today at Mercy Hospital in Pittsburgh.

He was taken to the hospital on Sunday for the removal of a 22 caliber slug lodged behind his right ear. Steer sustained the wound while he and companions were engaging in "target practice" near Twilight.

Library Bond Issue Is Approved, Five to One

Monessen voters yesterday approved a city bond issue of $200,000 for construction of a public library building by a vote of better than five to one.

The complete unofficial returns on the library question showed:

Yes	3,332
No	640

The bond issue, which encountered no active opposition during the campaign, was approved in all of the city's 15 voting precincts.

An intensive campaign for approval of the bond issue was led by a non-partisan Committee for the Library. Donald C. Duvall, vice-president and assistant to the president of Pittsburgh Steel Co., served as chairman.

Virtually every civic, fraternal, service and labor organization in the city endorsed the bond issue, as did political party leaders on both sides.

Approval of the bond issue is the first step in a plan to convert the present public library, operated privately by the Civic Library Association, into a municipal library operated under the city government.

The plan calls for construction of the new building on a site on Donner Ave. between Third and Fourth Sts. The site is already owned by the Civic Library Association, which will deed it to the city as the plan unfolds.

The present library building on Fifth St. would be sold and the proceeds donated to the city.

These arrangements are still subject to approval by the membership of the Civic Library Association.

The city library will be operated by a board of trustees to be appointed by the city council. The trustees will serve without compensation.

Details of the operation probably will be worked out between the city council and the board of trustees.

Democrats Gain in Power In State; Lawrence Wins

By UNITED PRESS

Democratic Mayors David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh and James T. Hanlon of Scranton rolled to unprecedented fourth-term victories in Tuesday's elections as their party continued its steady growth in power in Pennsylvania.

The Democrats solidified their hold on key strongholds and wrested control from the Republicans in mayoralty elections in seven cities while losing in none. In Pottsville they elected the first Democratic mayor in the city's history.

The off-year election evidenced a continued surge by the Democratic Party which began in 1954 with the election of Gov. George M. Leader.

Gets Biggest Margin

The terms of both Lawrence and Hanlon were for four years. Lawrence's victory was by the biggest margin he ever polled.

Other highlights of the election:

—Democrats wrested mayoralty offices from the Republicans in Butler, Connellsville, Corry, Lancaster, Meadville, Pittston and Pottsville. Democrats retained control of nine mayoralty offices, and Republicans retained control of seven.

—Voters approved overwhelmingly two proposed amendments to the state Constitution which would pave the way for a $150,000,000 Korean war bonus and for absentee voting privileges for certain civilians.

Wins Congressional Seat

—Republican John A. Lafore defeated Democrat Glenn W. Preston in a special election in Montgomery County's 13th Congressional District. He will serve the one year remaining of the unexpired term of Samuel K. McConnell Jr., Republican, who resigned his seat in the House earlier this year.

—Joseph R. Holliday, Republican, defeated Democrat J. Richard Hartman in a special election in Blair County's Second Legislative District. Holliday, the GOP county chairman, will fill out the unexpired term of the late Daniel H. Erb, who died shortly after the 1957 Legislature adjourned.

Mayor Lawrence—"The Champ" and "King David" to his many admirers—proved he was all that as he rolled to an easy victory and carried his ticket along with him. He defeated the Republican candidate, John Drew, a former Common Pleas Court judge by appointment, 128,248 to 68,737. It was the biggest plurality Lawrence ever recorded in his long political career.

Lawrence ran against an impressive backdrop of a vast "renaissance" program which is changing the face of Pittsburgh and which has drawn the acclaim of planning experts from other big cities.

The victory was exceptionally sweet for Lawrence. He had campaigned vigorously—driven by the

Overseas Bases Termed Must

Top Secret Mission to GiveReport

WASHINGTON (UP)—A top-secret presidential mission, winding up a year-long global study, will report soon that the network of U.S. overseas military bases must be maintained for a long time to come, administration officials disclosed today.

The special report will state, however, that some changes may be necessary in the operation of U.S. defense outposts. It will recommend new uses of some existing bases, a shift in personnel at others and a reduction in the acreage of some, informants said.

The report is expected to be submitted to President Eisenhower in about two weeks.

May Send IRBM's To Europe

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, reflecting the forthcoming recommendations, told a news conference Tuesday that "it would be desirable" to station intermediate range ballistic missiles (IRBM) at European sites. This is one way the primary mission of some foreign bases might change in the years ahead.

The United States does not yet have an operational IRBM but is testing two, the Air Force Thor and the Army Jupiter. IRBM's have an effective range of 1,500, compared with 5,000 miles for an intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM).

Both this country and Russia possess ICBM's but only Russia claims to have one ready for tactical use.

Defense officials say IRBM's stationed in Europe close to Russia would counter any lead the Soviets might have in developing an intercontinental missile.

Studying Possible Moves

Dulles also said the United States was giving active study to establishing a nuclear weapons stockpile in Western Europe where it would be readily available in case of attack.

Dulles rejected Russian leader Nikita Khrushchev's claim that long-range missile developments have made U.S. bases overseas obsolete.

A survey report on American bases is being prepared for the president by Frank C. Nash, former assistant secretary of Defense for International Security Affairs. Nash began visiting American bases in the Carribean in April, travelled to the Far East in May, and then toured European and North African bases in June and early July.

Felix Gaillard Wins Premiership To End Crisis

PARIS (UP)— The French National Assembly approved financial expert Felix Gaillard as premier early today, ending a five-week crisis that brought France to the brink of chaos.

Gaillard thus became the youngest premier in the history of Republican France. He celebrated his 38th birthday Tuesday.

The vote in the Assembly was 337 for to 173 against. Gaillard and his broad coalition cabinet had the support of every group except for the Communists, the extreme rightwing Poujadists, and the peasants.

It meant that barring a new crisis France would have a government to deal with the NATO summit conference, the Algerian rebellion, rocketing living costs and a stubborn foreign trade deficit.

Gaillard was a virtual unknown until six months ago when he was named finance minister in the cabinet of Maurice Bourges-Maunoury. And launched a campaign to avert economic disaster.

The assembly approval made Gaillard the 24th premier of France since the establishment of the Fourth Republic after World War II.

It ended the crisis which began Sept. 30 when Bourges-Maunoury resigned after a defeat in the Assembly. Continued failure of the Assembly to resolve the crisis had touched off demands for recall of Gen Charles De Gaulle as a "benevolent dictator" and dissolution of the Fourth Republic.

present. It was believed Molotov, Malenkov and ousted Defense Minister Marshal Georgi Zhukov were in the audience too.

Khrushchev took time during his speech to renew his charges that the United States is "plotting against Syria and inciting Israel and Turkey to provocation."

Then Khrushchev ridiculed American efforts to launch a satellite.

"Now our first Sputnik will no longer be bored wandering around the universe," he said. "...Yes, two envoys of the Soviet Union, two stars of peace, are making their flights around the earth."

He recalled that the United States planned to call its satellite "Vanguard" and taunted the U.S. for saying it had not thought of competing with the Soviet in the creation of an artificial satellite.

"Our Sputniks are circling around the earth and waiting for the American and other Sputniks to join them and to form a community of Sputniks.

"A community of this kind, a competition of this kind, will be far better than the competition of the armaments race, or the manufacture of lethal weapons."

Behind the stage was a huge white bust of Communist Party founder Vladimir I. Lenin, flanked by masses of Red flags.

Khrushchev escorted two visitors to the stage in person, Mao and Mme. Sun Yat-Sen, a sister-in-law of Nationalist Chinese President Chiang Kai-shek.

Entire House Rose

The entire house rose in a standing ovation as Khrushchev mounted the stage under a huge sign which spelled out in lights: "Long live the fortieth anniversary of the great October revolution."

The chairman then announced there was only one question on the agenda—the "great October revolution"—and Khrushchev rose to speak.

"Comrades, deputies of the Supreme Soviet, comrades workers, collective farmers, intelligentsia of the Soviet Union, our dear guests from abroad," he began.

Then he launched into a history of the Bolshevik revolution when, Khrushchev said, the "whole world was staggered."

Dave Lawrence In Tremendous Fourth-term Win

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A tremendous fourth-term victory for Pittsburgh Mayor David L. Lawrence highlighted a Democratic sweep in Tuesday's elections in the city and Allegheny County.

The voters in the county's three third-class cities also returned incumbent mayors to office. Duquesne Mayor Frank Kopriver, Republican, won a fourth term by defeating Leonard Staisey, blind assistant district attorney.

Democratic Mayor Andrew Jakomas of McKeesport was elected to a second term over Republican Clifford Flegal, and Democratic Mayor Kenneth Stilley of Clairton won a second term over Republican James Kemp.

The Democratic sweep was complete in Pittsburgh and McKeesport.

All Democratic county candidates were victorious. Judges Homer Brown, Henry Ellenbogen, John Kennedy, Harry Montgomery, A. Marshall Thompson and William Cercone were reelected to Common Pleas Court.

Judge A. L. Wolk was elected to Orphans Court and Judges John Brosky and James Legnard to County Court. All three had been serving by appointment.

Also returned to office by big margins were Sheriff William Davis, Coroner William McClelland, Clerk of Courts Thomas Barrett and Surveyor Hiram Milton.

Lawrence carried along with him to victory the six Democratic city councilmen seeking reelection.

Donora Motorist Hurt on Turnpike

A Donora motorist was admitted to Citizens General Hospital in New Kensington Monday night after his car rammed into the rear of a trailer-truck on the Pennsylvania Turnpike, about one mile east of Allegheny Valley interchange.

Harry Ruey, 44, suffered extensive cuts of the right eyelid and eyebrow, and bruises of the right ankle in the accident.

State police said Ruey, traveling eastward, rammed into a truck driven by Edward Walker, 36, Harrisburg. Walker was uninjured.

Dead Man's Vote Will Be Counted

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (UP)—When the absentee vote of servicemen and veterans is counted Nov. 15, the vote of a dead man will be included.

Joseph Panzera, a World War I veteran, died Nov. 1 in the Oakland Veterans Administration Hospital in Pittsburgh. But before he died, he filled out his ballot and mailed it to the permanent registration bureau here.

Soviet Rocket Speed Claims Astounding

LONDON (UP) — Soviet scientist Cyrill Stanyukovich said today the Russians are working on photonic rockets which theoretically approach the speed of light—186,000 miles a second.

Stanyukovich also reported in an article in the newspaper Trud—Russia used a liquid superfuel and not nuclear energy to launch its second earth satellite.

—Russian work on atomic energy "opens great possibilities in building atom jet engines which would facilitate flights to other planets."

Stanyukovich gave no details of the research into the photonic rockets except to say Soviet scientists were working on such rockets "which would develop super-cosmic speeds approximating the speed of light."

"Scientific successes will eventually enable realization of this bold dream," he added.

Energy From Light

In London, British rocket expert Kenneth Gatland said "photonic" rockets would draw energy from light and theoretically at least would be capable of continuous acceleration approximating the speed of light.

The Soviet Union continued to poke fun at the American rocket and missile program. It said Soviet scientists had worked out suitable techniques for space flights to Mars.

Dr. Vitaly Romadin, identified by Moscow Radio as a "Soviet scientist," said Russian scientists already have created conditions similar to those that would be encountered on a flight to Mars.

Romadin made the statements about Mars in a broadcast giving additional details of the second earth satellite.

Western World Edgy

The new series of Soviet statements came as the Western world became edgy over reports of mysterious unidentified flying objects and speculation that Russia would unveil new secret weapons Thursday on the 40th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution.

Scientists in the United States and abroad picked up new and unexplained radio signals from space and Japanese scientists reported a second object in the sky with Sputnik II although Russia has indicated the satellite consisted of only one unit.

There were reports Tuesday of unidentified flying objects near Alamogordo, N.M., near the scene of the first atomic explosion, and over the Pacific Ocean.

Tuesday night South African air force searchlights picked up a "cylindrical object" flying over Johannesburg.

Speculation continued that Russia might try to send a rocket to the moon for Thursday's mammoth celebrations, but there was no comment from Moscow.

The South African air force had no comment on the flying cylinder which was seen by thousands of residents of Johannesburg.

Ike To Speak

There was growing concern in the West, and President Eisenhower scheduled a major scientific report to the nation for Thursday night, the same day the Russians may announce new achievements in celebrating the 40th anniversary.

The Mutual Broadcasting System in New York reported that the United States will launch its first earth satellite carrying insects next week. Previously President Eisenhower said the U.S would launch its first satellite in December.

In Washington the authoritative "American Aviation Daily" reported the Defense Department in 1955 rejected two Air Force proposals to launch earth satellites weighing up to 5,000 pounds.

Japanese astronomers, in reporting on the mysterious second object in the skies over Tokyo, said it was "seemingly related to Sputnik II" but was preceding the satellite on its orbit around the earth. They said it was not as bright as the satellite and was observed about 90 seconds before the satellite itself came into view.

of new Soviet scientific and military gains with reassurances to the American people of U.S. strength.

It also was possible — but there was no indication that it was probable — that the President would disclose some striking new U.S. technological achievement or plans.

Eisenhower's change of plans reflected increasing top-level administration concern over the psycholog cal gains Russia has scored with its rockets and two Sputniks.

Reds Lead In Phases

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles conceded at a news conference Tuesday that Russia apparently is leading this country in some phases of missile development. But he said he felt sure the United States would overtake the Soviets.

And Deputy Defense Secretary Donald A. Quarles said in a Baltimore speech Tuesday night that recent Russian weapons strides leave the United States no choice except to "do whatever must be done to stay out ahead."

Democratic leaders of the Senate meanwhile, put new pressure on the President to speed up the nation's satellite - missile programs. Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson announced that the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee would soon begin a "searching inquiry" into these fields.

Eisenhower called off his news conference originally planned for today. Mrs. Anne Wheaton, acting White House press secretary, said Thursday night's speech would cover much the same ground as a news conference and that the President wanted to "reach a larger audience" than would have been possible at question-and-answer session with reporters.

Another sighting was reported from Rio De Janeiro by the Brazilian tanker Petrobras. It reported the satellite more brilliant than the planet Venus but said when it reached the horizon it made unexplained "ascending and descending movements" before vanishing.

Create Mars Trip Conditions

Moscow Radio reported today Soviet scientists already have created conditions similar to those that would be encountered on a flight to the planet Mars—a plain hint that a moon rocket would be easy.

Sputnik II passed over London at 6:30 a.m., but listening posts said they heard no pulsing sounds or other mysterious sounds reported heard in the United States. The British Broadcasting Corporation reported the beep beep signal loud and clear.

In Washington the Federal Communications Commission said its monitoring stations have been alerted to try to track reports of a new signal from space. Ham operators across the nation reported hearing the signal on 14.286 kilocycles. It was variously described as a series of dots, a low moan and "some kind of code group."

An FCC spokesman said the frequency is far removed from that on which Sputnik II's radio operates.

Earlier the U.S. Air Force missile development center at Alamogordo, N.M., said it had picked up radio signals from Sputnik II which apparently represent the heart beat and respiration rate of a dog such as carried aboard Sputnik II.

Moscow Radio put out a formal denial, however, that it had broadcast reports the Russians had fired a rocket to the moon.

Ike, GOP Setbacks Registered in NYC, New Jersey, Virginia

WASHINGTON (UP — Election returns from New Jersey, Virginia and New York City added up today to another political setback for President Eisenhower and the GOP.

For the Democrats, the reelection of Gov. Robert B. Meyner in New Jersey projected a new glamor boy into the array of potential candidates for the 1960 presidential nomination. This was a real defeat for the administration, which had gone all out in support of Republican Malcolm S. Forbes.

But in Virginia, the National Democratic Party could draw little more comfort than the GOP over the fact that the Democratic candidate for governor won more easily than in 1953. The Democratic campaign there was keyed to massive resistance to racial integration in schools and was a reminder that the Democratic family quarrel over the civil rights issue can only become more intense.

On that issue, Gov.-elect J. Lindsay Almond Jr. in Virginia had nothing in common with Meyner or Mayor Robert F. Wagner Jr. of New York City, who typify the northern Democratic position in support of a strong civil rights program.

Wagner, son of the late New Deal senator, was reelected Tuesday when he overwhelmed Republican Robert K. Christenberry by a 3-to-1 margin. He polled the largest plurality ever given a mayoralty candidate in New York.

In Tuesday's scattered off-year elections, the Republicans had to settle for what satisfaction they could get out of victories in two special congressional elections to fill vacancies in the House.

These elections were in the Atlantic City district in New Jersey and a Philadelphia suburban district in Pennsylvania. There was no significant departure from the normal voting pattern in the two districts, which have been heavily Republican in recent elections.

President Eisenhower gave his personal endorsement to Forbes, Christenberry and Ted Dalton, the GOP nominee for governor of Virginia. Only last week, the President said a Forbes victory would be a "great big shot in the arm" for Republicans still hurting from the unexpected loss of a Wisconsin Senate seat in a special election in August.

Nixon Spoke For Forbes

The Republican national headquarters threw everything they could into New Jersey. Vice President Richard M. Nixon headed the list of visiting campaigners. But nearly complete returns indicated that the handsome Meyner had won by a margin greater than his 150,000 plurality for four years ago.

The Eisenhower prestige was at stake in a different way in Virginia. Sen. Harry F. Byrd, leader of the Conservative state Democratic organization and erstwhile friend of the Eisenhower administration, personally led his troops into the battle. He wanted an unmistakable showing of Southern white opposition to school integration and to top President's use of federal troops in the Little Rock, Ark., school case.

Dalton, who polled a surprising 45 per cent of the vote in the same contest four years ago, received about 36 per cent of Tuesday's record vote. He also campaigned to preserve segregated schools but favored a plan which would permit token integration.

In big city elections Tuesday, David L. Lawrence was elected to a fourth term as Democratic mayor of Pittsburgh. Democrats also won mayoralty elections in Buffalo and Albany, N.Y., Louisville, Ky., New Haven and Bridgeport, Conn., and Paterson, N.J.

OBITUARIES

JOSEPH JAMES BOYLE

Joseph James Boyle, 606 Donner Ave., Monessen died suddenly today at 7:22 a. m. in Monongahela Memorial Hospital.

Mr. Boyle was born in Monongahela. He had been employed at the local plant of the Pittsburgh Steel Co. and was retired in 1955. He was a member of St. Leonard's R. C. Church and the Holy Name Society and the Sacred Heart Society of the church.

He was a 50-year member of the Knights of Columbus and the Elks Lodge 773, Monessen.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Julia Burke Boyle. His only daughter, Catherine Boyle preceded him in death 25 years ago.

MRS. ALBERTA I. KUHN

Mrs. Alberta I. Kuhn, 80, 108 State St., Belle Vernon, died today at 2 a. m. in the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital after a long illness.

Mrs. Kuhn was a member of the First Baptist Church of Belle Vernon and the Protective Order of America.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Freda Lutes and Florence Kuhn, both of Belle Vernon; two grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Friends are being received at the Harold R. Toner Funeral Home, Broad Ave., Belle Vernon, from 1 to 5 and 7 to 10 p. m.

Rotary Members Are Inducted

The Rev. Abner P. Richard Jr. conducted induction ceremonies for new members when the Monessen Rotary Club met yesterday at noon at Johnson's restaurant.

Received into the organization were Dr. Joseph Pallone, Henry Furio, Michael Skirpan Jr., Louis L. Manderino, Daniel Myshin, Walter Murphy and A. E. Wilen.

The Rev. Mr. Richard explained that Rotary International is founded on service principles as a unit, but stressed the necessity for each individual Rotarian following such principles in his vocation and profession.

Henry Kienke of Pittsburgh was a guest.

Minor Damage in Two-car Collision

Minor damage resulted from a two-car crash at the intersection of Fourth St. and Schoonmaker Ave. about 9:15 last night, Monessen police reported today.

Drivers involved were Charles Foster, 414 Parkway, Monessen, and Everett Hunter, R. D., 3, Belle Vernon.

Schmidt said the walls of the ship were transparent from the inside and contained a "maze of dials, instruments and wiring inside."

"I was in the ship 20 or 30 minutes," Schmidt said. He quoted the "spacemen" as saying "we'll have to be here a little while—you may as well come inside." They appeared to be working on the wiring, the salesman said, and did not offer to explain any of the equipment.

They spoke among themselves in German, Schmidt said.

Finally, he said, they told him to get out and the ship, propellers whirring, took off like a helicopter.

Pinball Hearings Nov. 25

Fayette County court arguments on the controversial pinball machine case will be heard Monday, Nov. 25, it was announced today.

Judge Eustace H. Bane, who heard testimony in the trial last July, issued an order to place the case on the argument list for presentation to the court en banc.

The decision to set the case for argument was delayed until submission of a brief by state's attorney, Deputy Atty. Gen. Frank P. Lawley. Previously, Defense Atty. Louis Glasso, of Pittsburgh, submitted his brief.

Opposing counsel will argue the legality of 41 pinball machines seized in a series of raids on business places in Uniontown, Brownsville and Connellsville last June 20.

Only two judges will hear the arguments — President Judge W. Russell Carr, and Judge Bane The third common pleas court judge. S. John Morrow, died several weeks ago.

Called Games

Defense contends that the devices seized are not gambling devices, but merely games for amusement, requring skill for operation. Atty. Glasso had several local residents, who testified to years of playing experience, operate two devices brought into the courtroom during the hearing.

One of two petitions filed by the state claims the machines were used for gambling purposes, while the second contends the devices are gambling machines, in fact.

A state police officer who participated in the raids testified that while gathering evidence, he witnessed a number of payoffs by store proprietors to winning players.

Result of the case here will have a bearing on the future of pinball machines throughout the state, authorities said

Farrell School Merger Approved

FARRELL, Pa. (UP) — Democrats Louis F. Galicia and William Decapua were elected to City Council Tuesday with easy victories over Republicans Robert P Kalney and Andrew Thomas.

Voters also approved a merger of the Farrell school district with Wheatland by a vote of 1,029 to 213. Wheatland voters approved the merger, 202 to 72.

Delsandro Wins Donora Burgess Race Easily

Albert P. Delsandro, a steelworkers union official, easily won the burgess race in Donora yesterday.

As expected, all Democratic candidates won with ease. Most of them had no opposition, having collected both nominations in the primary.

Delsandro polled 2325 votes compared to 1526 received by his Republican opponent John Marosivich.

A former councilman, Marosovich is a registered Democrat who won the GOP nomination write-in votes in the May primary.

Former All-American football star Arnold Galiffa won a council seat without opposition. So did Joseph Mouyard.

Two other Democratic nominees also piled up huge margins in the council race. They were incumbents Albert Pipik and John Duda Jr.

In the school director race, Theodore R. Hickman and John Kosh won easily. Democrat George Kovalcik had no trouble in the tax collector contest.

Two Democrats were also elected as justices of the peace: Thomas Petrus and Manual Campa.

Police Searching For Bottle Tossers

Monongahela police today are searching for a pair of bottle throwers, who broke windows of two downtown business houses early Sunday.

Damaged were windows in the State Liquor Store and Valley Electric.

Democrats in Carroll Twp. Election Sweep

Democrats swept all offices in Carroll Twp. voting yesterday.

Peter Gallick, incumbent tax collector, led the ticket, polling 1211 votes to 490 for his Republican opponent Harold Chattaway.

Joe Vleck defeated Norman Prosser for supervisor, receiving 1053 votes to 616 for the losers.

Democrats John Blanger and Michael Vaccaro had no trouble in the school director race and Michael Polak was an easy winner for assessor.

Reginald Taylor had no opposition for auditor, having won both nominations in the May primary.

Carroll Twp. voters also favored Washington County Democratic candidates by large pluralities.

A "photo-finish" and the surprising loss of an incumbent office-holder featured voting in Monongahela yesterday.

According to unofficial returns, Republican Lewis S. Warren won one of two council seats by the margin of one vote. He polled 1240 to 1239 for Democrat William Pellegrini.

That race is so close that the winner actually won't be definite until the official count and until veterans ballots are tallied.

The other council seat was won easily by Charles M. Brady who polled 1497 votes. The other Republican candidate, William H. Watson, appears out of the contest with 1182 votes.

Republican incumbent Carl S. Yohe lost his school director post. The Democratic candidates, Michael Smith Jr., and Thomas E. Scurfield swept this race, polling 1372 and 1397, respectively. Yohe received 1233 votes and his running mate Charles Byers got 1125.

Democrat Willard A. Cox topped Republican Roy A. Bowman in the race for city controller, 1413 to 1242.

Tipple Beams at Mine Are Erected

Erection of steel beams for the tipple of the U. S. Steel's new Maple Creek mine has been started in New Eagle.

No Nagging Backache Means a Good Night's Sleep

Nagging backache, headache, or muscular aches and pains may come on with over-exertion, emotional upsets or day to day stress and strain. And folks who eat and drink unwisely sometimes suffer mild bladder irritation ...with that restless, uncomfortable feeling.

If you are miserable and worn out because of these discomforts, Doan's Pills often help by their pain relieving action, by their soothing effect to ease bladder irritation, and by their mild diuretic action through the kidneys — tending to increase the output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

So if nagging backache makes you feel dragged-out, miserable, with restless, sleepless nights, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, get the same happy relief millions have enjoyed for over 60 years. Ask for new, large, economy size and save money. Get Doan's Pills today!

NEW D. A. — This is Earl S. Keim, Democrat, who won the District Attorney election for Westmoreland County yesterday. He will succeed L. Alexander Sculco who was elected common pleas court judge.

Blair Leads Way To Democratic Win in Perryopolis

Burgess Russell Blair led a slate of victorious Democrats in yesterday's general election voting in the borough of Perryopolis.

Blair, who ran on both tickets, polled 424 votes, according to unofficial returns.

The three Democratic council candidates came out on top without much trouble. Thomas Karolich received 317 votes; Henry DiVirgilio 338 and John Burke 351. For the Republicans. Ernest Barnes got 189, John Bachoffer 210 and Henry Pancook 212.

Heading the school director race were Democrats Thomas Havadich, 337; Simon Rider, 440; and John Volosen, 306.

Paul Hlavich, Democrat, won over his Republican rival Kermit Buttermore in the tax collector race 403 to 153. Democrat Ann Masch won over Republican Arthur Evans for auditor, 294 to 225.

Jim Aspinwall is the borough's justice of peace, while Edith Little is the assessor. Both won easily.

ressing. It is the administration's intention to make Monessen the best community "to live in and work in."

Stieska had no comment on the election except to offer his congratulations to Parente.

Stieska, who had run unsuccessfully for Council on two previous occasions, had no statement to make when asked if he planned to seek any political office in the future.

In pre-election statements, Parente and his political side-kick, City Clerk Francis Crum predicted Stieska "will be lucky if he gets over 1,800 votes." The two were only 89 votes off.

Harhai will be the only newcomer in City Hall. He entered the scene by running as an independent Democrat in the primary and defeating the slate's candidate, Councilman David Victoria. Harhai became a member of the Democratic party's regular slate for yesterday's election.

Most of the winners gathered for a "victory celebration" at Slovak Home shortly after the votes were tallied.

Republican Burgess Is West Newton Victor

Robert C. Umbarger, Republican, easily won the burgess race in yesterday's general election in West Newton.

Unofficial returns gave Umbarger 1,096 votes, compared to 611 for his Democratic opponent Paul Suchko.

Umbarger, a former burgess, will succeed George Rohland, who did not seek reelection.

West Newton voters split their tickets in traditional fashion for other local offices.

Jane Sykes Farrell, Democrat, scored a lopsided victory in the tax collector race. She polled 1164 votes to 545 for her Republican opponent Sara Ross.

J. F. Lasch, who ran on both tickets, led the school director race with 1,529 votes. Also elected was Republican Earl Albig Jr. who edged out J. Schiftic, Democrat, 842 to 823.

Curt Fowler had no opposition for auditor.

A surprise occurred in the third ward council race. Victor Leap, running on both tickets, easily won one council spot with 368 votes. Thomas Filbern who was defeated for tax collector in the primary race, successfully won the other other council vacancy with a sticker vote of 223. Matthew Everly, Democrat, trailed with 206 votes, while Jean Abbott, Republican, had 154.

In the second ward, J. Lowanse won a council seat without opposition.

Republican W. Cumpson, with 360 votes, and Democrat E. H. Rouse, with 333, won the two council seats in the first ward, according to unofficial returns.

Democratic county candidates won all races in West Newton with the exception of one. GOP judicial candidate Robert Rial topped L. Alexander Sculco but ran behind the other two Democratic candidates.

The Korean bonus amendment was approved 940 to 212 while the absentee vote amendment was okayed 882 to 226.

Lone Republican Wins Charleroi Tax Collector

Charleroi voters elected only one Republican yesterday, but they gave him more votes than any of the other winning Democrats.

W. Ross Allen, incumbent tax collector, was the successful GOP candidate. He defeated Regis Carroll, polling 2,174 votes to 1,207 for the loser.

That lopsided win was surprising in view of the Democratic sweep of other offices.

Frank Cantoni had no trouble winning a three-way fight for burgess. He received 1,932 votes to 523 for Republican Fred Miller and 914 for Burgess James W. McGuire who ran as an independent. The latter was defeated in the Democratic primary by Cantoni.

The four incumbent Democratic councilmen were successful, posting these votes: Pete Celaschi, 1912; Pete Tihansky, 1773; Raymond Spahr 2059; and Robert C. Rickard, 1795. Their Republican foes finished in this manner: Walter Behrendt, 1272; James R. Cahill, 1644; George O. Debolt, 1298; and N. O. Hunter, 1014.

In the race for school director, Democrats Frank Pucci and James Buchanan polled 1717 and 1942, respectively. GOP nominees George Humphries and Armand A. Balsano got 1434 and 1258, respectively.

Registration figures for Charleroi show 2975 Democrats and 1518 Republicans.

Williams Elected Tax Collector for N. B. V.

North Belle Vernon voters yesterday elected a Republican tax collector, but they gave the nod to all other Democratic candidates.

According to unofficial returns, Warren Williams defeated his Democratic opponent Raymond Dalfonso by 21 votes in the closely contested tax collector race. Williams had 659 votes; Dalfonso 638.

Another Republican candidate, James Reed, almost pulled a second upset in the council race. He lost out by only ten votes, the unofficial returns showed.

William Mascara, Homer Zucconi and Charles Klisowski all ran on both tickets, thus assuring their election to council. The fourth council seat was won by Tony Stringhill, who polled 674 votes to 661 for Reed.

Democrats Michael Yencsik and Clifford Breakwell won easily over Republicans Harold Underwood and John W. Werton in the school director race. Mary Silvania had no opposition for auditor and Edward Mobley faced no active opposition for justice of the peace.

In the county races, North Belle Vernon voters gave substantial pluralities to all Democratic candidates.

Both constitutional amendments were approved by a better than five-to-one margin.

Action Due Soon On City Programs

WITH the election over, we hope Monessen's city officials will lose no time getting back to the business of community rejuvenation. Some vital phases of the program lie just ahead.

For example, there is the matter of setting up enforcement of the new housing code. The City Council adopted this excellent law several weeks ago, but as a temporary step the enforcement work was given to the acting city engineer.

Most members of Council recognize, as we do, that putting this code into effect properly is going to be a full-time job, and the appointee ought to have some training and experience in the work if such a person can be found.

This ordinance can work wonders in correcting substandard conditions and checking blight in the older sections of the city. It is one of the basic essentials of the development program. But the code will be only a worthless scrap of paper if it isn't rigidly enforced — beginning at the earliest possible date.

* * *

THE NEW zoning ordinance is also ripe for final action both by the Planning Commission and Council.

This ordinance likewise is one of the key items of the rejuvenation program, one of the essential legislative tools in giving effect to the master plan.

We did not care for the manner in which the Council apparently insisted upon a public announcement of certain changes in the proposed zoning ordinance before the election.

These changes involved modification of proposed restrictions on neighborhood commercial establishments. The councilmen apparently felt sufficient objection to these restrictions to give them some political concern. And since the Planning Commission was not scheduled to consider a final draft of the ordinance before election day, an informal announcement was made by the city solicitor at a meeting of Council in which it was virtually promised that these restrictions would be modified.

This is no way to go about planning a better city. If the members of Council are going to take cover and run every time some special interest raises objections to planning measures, we may as well give up the whole idea now. This is no work for timid souls who think more of hanging onto a public office than they think of the future of the community.

* * *

PLANS for the East Gate redevelopment project call for some strenuous work and hard decisions in the weeks and months just ahead. The Redevelopment Authority, the Planning Commission and the Council itself should all buckle down to get this important show on the road as promptly as sound procedures will allow.

A good deal of Monessen's program for the future remains just talk and paper dreams. These are necessary, of course. But sometime soon we must pass into a period of dramatic action. And we hope all concerned are resolved to get underway as quickly as possible.

Problem Solved

THE ANNOUNCEMENT by Gov. Goodwin Knight of California that he will run for the U. S. Senate rather than for another term as governor appears to have solved a knotty problem for the Republicans of that large and important state.

Now Sen. Knowland has a clear path to the GOP nomination for governor; Gov. Knight gets a crack at an important national office which will keep him satisfactorily in the spotlight; and Vice President Nixon, as his part of the deal, will not have the opposition of Sen. Knowland in the Republican presidential primaries of 1960.

Drew Pearson, in his article today, provides much of the background of this interesting and probably significant political transaction and describes it as a "brilliant coup d'etat" by Mr. Nixon.

It seems a bit early to be talking 1960 presidential politics, but maybe not too early. One need not look beyond today's front page to realize that we have entered a fateful period in the history of the nation and of the world. The 1960 election could well be more fateful even than that of 1860 when the voters chose the leader to pilot the nation through the terrible storm of civil war. Whatever can be done to make sure of adequate leadership cannot be done too early.

Eric Sevareid, the CBS commentator, is out with a prediction. He says Mr. Nixon will be the next President and will defeat the Democratic candidate, who he says is to be Governor Meyner of New Jersey.

This is pinpointing the thing rather audaciously, that's sure. But in the light of the California development, it has to be recognized at least that the Vice President looks like a better bet for the Republican nomination than ever.

Balance of Power Has Shifted

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Why is public reaction to the latest feats of Soviet science and weaponry so sharp, so shocked and, in a sense, so anxiously bewildered?

Is this just a passing mood which, if the editorial writers would only keep cool and calm, would soon go away?

Mr. Drummond

Is this just injured national pride which it is ungentlemanly not to suppress when what we really should be saying sportingly to the Russians is: "Good game: better team won; see you another time."

Or does this state of alarm and indignation stem from an intuitive awareness that behind Sputnik and behind Moscow's ICBMs lies the gravest peril to the United States?

Eisenhower Surprised

I cannot escape the feeling that this nation-wide mood — critical, uncertain and intent upon supporting whatever exertions the President finds essential — has surprised Mr. Eisenhower and most other officials of the administration.

This total dissatisfaction at being late and second-best is healthy, valuable and all to the good because, by reason or by instinct, the public simply knows that this is not a Davis Cup match for a "silly baubie" to put on your mantlepiece, that this is a contest for survival itself, and that if we don't win it, we won't be able to say: "See you another time."

What makes the present moment fateful is not simply that the Kremlin has dazzled the world with its man-made moon or that the Soviet ICBMs are getting so near to the production line. It is the consequence of these and related events which is fearful and the consequence is that unless we exert ourselves terrifically we are on the brink of seeing the whole military balance of power shift to the Communist world.

Outmatched on Ground

Here are the reasons:

1. The military balance of power in numbers — in aircraft, trained divisions combat-ready and in reserve — is already overwhelmingly on the Soviet side. The free world is totally out-matched on the ground.

2. In atomic and hydrogen bombs we are stalemated. Once we had an atomic monopoly. With some help from Western traitors, the Soviets produced their own. They got the hydrogen bomb very fast. We may be ahead in quantity but the Russian stockpile is sufficient for massive destruction. It will do the job.

3. Next and more important — indeed the heart of the danger — is that the Soviet Union may at this moment be within reach of a superior striking power capable of annihilating the distance from the Urals to Omaha in minutes. You can dismiss the idea that the outer-space Sputnik and the rapid pace of Russian missile development are lucky breaks which happened by accident and that Soviet production will be just too too difficult. Time was when the Strategic Air Command of manned bombers was the most powerful striking force in the world, a massive deterrent to aggression. Now the Russian ICBM has the visible potential of becoming a superior striking force.

Russians Gambled

4. The Russians have taken a gamble that we did not dare to take. Reasonably certain that we would not start an atomic war, the Russians, while maintaining their production of strategic bombers, went all out to develop the ICBM. Now Khrushchev bluntly tells the world that the era of the strategic bomber is past. True, Moscow is not dismantling its heavy bomber squadrons, but I believe that if we dismiss Khrushchev's words they will haunt us as we slide down the slope of declining power.

What this means is that if Russia widens or perhaps if it only keeps its lead, in ICBMs, plus its stockpile of nuclear weapons and plus its superiority in combat aircraft and on land, a decisive shift in the whole military balance of power is in the making.

These are the reasons — and reasons enough — why the national mood is one of alarm and indignation.

The question is not whether something will be done about it. The question is whether enough will be done about it, and soon.

Nixon Scores 'Brilliant Coup'

By DREW PEARSON

LOS ANGELES — Honest but pachydermic Sen. Bill Knowland may not realize it, but his fellow Californian, Dick Nixon, has executed the most brilliant political coup d'etat of this generation. The final touches of that coup are being signed and sealed at the White House this week.

Mr. Pearson

Even the politicoes who don't like Nixon are nodding their heads in begrudging admiration.

With one stroke, he has won the preliminary support of the leader of the Taft forces, Knowland, for his (Nixon's) nomination for President. With the same stroke, he has probably eliminated Knowland as a candidate altogether.

For if Knowland doesn't win over popular Democrat Pat Brown in the race for governor of California — and he probably won't — he has eliminated himself as a competent vote-getter and a serious contender for the presidency.

When you realize that Knowland is resigning from the Senate and from the Republican Senate leadership, one of the most coveted posts in Washington, for the express purpose of boosting his ambition to be President, you can understand the brilliance of Nixon's strategy.

When you also recall that the old Taft conservative wing of the GOP was getting more and more fed up with Nixon's stand for foreign aid, for the use of troops at Little Rock, and his difference with the White House over Sputnik, you get a double realization of Nixon's political brilliance. For Bill Knowland, the honest, ponderous conservative, was the idol of the Taft followers and the certain inheritor of their support.

Nixon Forced Knight

Nixon scored this double victory by euchering Gov. Goodwin Knight into running for the Senate instead of opposing Knowland for governor and getting a commitment from Knowland in return that he wouldn't campaign for President in the Republican primaries.

This may sound like a minor concession. Actually, it's a major one. Last year, before Eisenhower announced as a candidate, Knowland had already entered several primaries, for his strength was and still is with grass'roots leaders. The Taft forces are potent in the grass roots. They dominate the primaries and the party conventions. They almost nominated Taft over Eisenhower despite his great popularity and military prestige in 1952.

In 1960, Knowland would have had their 100 per cent support had he put his name in the primaries. Now he won't. With no name but Nixon's entered, the vice president goes to the 1960 convention with practically all of the delegates, the sure winner of the GOP nomination.

Knight Learned Money Talks

The great crisis in Dick Nixon's bid for the vice presidency took place in a California TV studio in October 1952 when he went before the American public to explain why he had taken an $18,000 personal expense fund from California businessmen for many of whom he had done personal favors.

He staged a masterful performance, used all gimmicks he had learned as a student of dramatics at Whittier College.

Public reaction voted its approval and Nixon became Vice President. The crisis in Dick Nixon's bid for the highest office in the United States, was also staged in California, but it was manipulated not before television but very quietly in the offices of the banking houses, the publishers and those who control the political purse-strings and the political opinion so necessary to attain high office in California.

Goody Knight was not an easy man to push out of running for governor again. He had his heart set on it, had said over and over again that he would run. He had been a good governor and a popular governor. California precedent said that he should run for re-election.

However, he had come out against any "right to work law" and had been a strong friend of labor. Several top California businessmen were unhappy. Others, however, were still strong for Goody.

At this point, Nixon and friends began putting on the squeeze. They applied it in three ways:

1—Gov. Knight was brain-washed. Political polls were taken, showing that he would lose. In some of the polls, Knight trailed Knowland by 2 to 1. He was told that he should not spoil his political career by a crushing, ingominious defeat.

2—Financial support was withdrawn. Jerd Sullivan, of the Crocker-Anglo National Bank in San Francisco, Knight's previous finance director, began to show signs of cold feet. Charlie Blythe, the investment banker and a strong supporter of Goody, had a change of heart. Howard Ahmandson, the Los Angeles savings and loan mogul, washed out. Justin Dart, head of the Rexall drug chain, pulled out on Knight.

In California politics, big money talks. It talks loud and it talks long. It took well over a million dollars to finance Nixon's campaign against Helen Gahagan Douglas for the Senate in 1950. Money also poured into Governor Warren's campaign to defeat Jimmy Roosevelt in the same year.

Governor Knight, an experienced politician, knew he was out of luck without campaign funds. He knew also that labor could never raise enough to counter-balance that from big business.

Papers Switched

3—Knight lost newspaper support. There are only about half a dozen non-Republican papers in California. And suddenly the big publishers switched. Almost overnight, Knight found that some of the biggest moulders of California opinion wanted him to run for the Senate, not for governor.

Even so, Knight wavered. Disappointed, embittered, and so sick at heart that he had his out in a friend's home in Phoenix, Ariz. he demanded concessions in return for his retreat. He demanded that Knowland retire from the Senate after the California primaries so that he, Knight, could be appointed to the Senate and thus run as a "sitting senator." He also demanded that no other Republican oppose him for the Senate and that the entire package be blessed publicly by President Eisenhower.

Knight was under great pressure — even while in hiding. Some of his advisers wanted him to yield gracefully, some wanted him to kick over the Republican traces and run as a Democrat.

At one point he almost did. Had Joe DeSilva, head of the retail Clerks, most potent local in Southern California, been able to get any Democratic support, it's possible Knight would have run as a Democrat.

He waited until the last minute, however, and then handed David Nixon, the man he hated and whom he had denounced at the San Francisco convention in 1956, a political coup'detat which practically assures Nixon the presidential nomination in 1960.

Disgrace of Zhukov Seen as 'Emergency'

By CHARLES M. McCANN

Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov's degredation appears to have been an emergency operation.

Exactly what lies behind the latest upheaval in the Kremlin is still a matter for speculation.

It is not even certain that Communist leader Nikita S. Khrushchev was the prime mover in Zhukov's dismissal as defense minister and ouster from the high councils of Russian Communism.

Mr. McCann

But it does appear to be certain that as late as October 7, Zhukov was still in good standing.

Zhukov was dismissed as defense minister on October 26.

Apparently during that interval of 19 days the ruling Communist Party Presidium decided that Zhukov had to go at once.

Knew Affects of Decision

The decision was reached even though the members of the Presidium knew Zhukov's dismissal would cast something of a blight upon the big celebration of the 40th anniversary of the 1917 Bolshevik revolution which is to be held Thursday.

Zhukov arrived in Yugoslavia on Oct. 8 in his capacity of defense minister to visit Gen. Ivan Gosnjak, Yugoslav state secretary for defense.

It has been suggested that he was sent out of the country so that his dismissal could be engineered in his absence. But the visit had been long scheduled. It was announced officially in Moscow on Sept. 23.

On Oct. 7, Khrushchev gave a three-hour and twenty-minute interview to James Reston, chief of the Washington bureau of the New York Times, who was then visiting Russia.

At the very end of the interview Khrushchev himself disclosed that the Soviet government had sought an invitation for Zhukov to visit the United States but had been rebuffed.

Probably Didn't Know

It is hardly likely that Khrushchev would have raised this matter if he had decided at that time to put the skids under Zhukov.

Some things about the Zhukov affair are clear. First, some Soviet leaders feared that under Zhukov the armed forces were were getting too independent and were a potential threat to the Communist Party. Secondly, some of them feared also that Zhukov himself was getting too popular and too powerful.

It has been taken for granted, generally, that Khrushchev engineered Zhukov's dismissal. Yet a Paris newspaper asserts that it has information that Khrushchev at first opposed Zhukov's dismissal, but agreed to it to keep his own position from being weakened.

There is always a tendency to find complicated answers to developments in the Kremlin. But maybe Zhukov just got too big for his breeches.

National Cat Week and A Dog Steals the Show

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UP)—Well, what are you gonna do, in the face of what's happening, but just sit here and eye the zenith, which gives promise soon of being all a-beep with a mad whirl of satellites, both dogged and undogged.

My cat, a long - haired gent named Adam Hemingway Quigg, has been padding around with a hangcat look on his puss. Here it is "National Cat Week," a time when felines world (and otherworld) wide should be meowing up a storm.

National Cat Week — and what happens? A shaggy dog goes up above the world higher than anybody, and may even become a fixture above us, like the dog star. It has not been announced whether this particular dog volunteered for the assignment but, be that as it may, he is certainly having his day.

Cosmic Cat Nap

Cats of the world arise! I use the verb advisedly. Once they have risen, they will orbit with an aplomb unmatchable. There has been some worrying in print about how man will react—when his space-travel day arrives — to becoming weightless in space, since he has always been dependent on gravity to hold him, and his food, down.

This weightlessness would be somewhat comparable with the plight of reaching the top of a springboard dive, or the top of the arc on the garden swing—not going up and not coming down—and just staying afloat there with even your hair standing weightlessly on end.

The question is, what will it do to the psyche of man and dog—accustomed since the beginning to having their bunions planted firmly on the ground — to find their feet planted in nothing whatsoever but just waving around wantonly?

In this clutch of nothingness, I give you the cat. Other breeds' psyches may run amuck in gravity-shorn space. Men may scream and dogs bay at whatever moons chance to be passing. But the cat, in space, will merely yawn, float over onto its back, and catch another nap.

Like Disney Movie

In its waking hours, it will go nonchantly about adding more planks to the space platform, or damming up holes punctured in the hull by whizzing motes of stardust. Of all our creatures, the cat is ascendant in mental ability to meet the challenge. You know darn well that it has exhibited out-of-this - world detachment for centuries.

My cat gets so detached from his surroundings that he thinks he is not anywhere at all. In this cat-nirvana mood, he is likely as not to walk right off a table, in complete disdain of the force of gravity, like a creature in a Disney movie.

The United States has been sending up monkeys and mice in rockets for space - flight tests. They seem to have come through with wits unscattered. If mice can do it, so can men. And when man goes, he'll need a calm companion that just can't be bothered by environment, stuff or vacuum, swirling about him.

Gentlemen and ladies, let us salute, on this, his week, the noble cat, ideal space pet. May his naps last across the light-years.

Mary Catherine Katrinak Weds in Perryopolis Rites

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Katrinak Sr. of Perryopolis are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Mary Catherine, to Daniel T. Dukovcic. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs Peter Dukovcic of Aliquippa

Wedding vows were exchanged on Saturday, Oct. 26, in St. John the Baptist Roman Catholic Church of Perryopolis. The Rev John Stofcik officiated at the double ring ceremony at 10 o'clock in the morning. Sister Rosemary presided at the organ, and the vocal selections were sung by Mrs. Betty Jane Mucci. The bride chose "On This Day O Beautiful Mother" and "Ava Maria" as her favorite numbers to be sung.

Altar Decorated

White chrysanthemums and ferns decorated the church altar.

Given in marriage by her brother, John J. Katrinak, the bride chose a ballerina length gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle. It was styled with a sabrina neckline, long pointed sleeves ending in rose applique at the wrist, and a bouffant skirt. She wore a fingertip veil of French illusion, which fell from a tiara of pearls and rhinestones. The bridal bouquet was of white carnations and stephanotis centered with a white orchid.

Serving as maid of honor was Delores Katrinak, sister of the bride. She wore a royal blue chiffon ballerina length gown, and she carried a cascade of tinted blue carnations. Her headpiece was of matching royal blue velvet.

Albert Dukovcic of Aliquippa was best man.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Katrinak chose a gray dress with satin trim, white satin hat, black accessories and a white carnation corsage.

Hold Reception

After the ceremony there was a reception at the Sokol Home in Perryopolis for about 100 relatives and friends. Out of town guests were from Pittsburgh, Minnesota, Chicago, Wisconsin, Cleveland and Warren, Ohio, New Jersey and New York.

When the couple left for a wedding trip the bride was wearing a charcoal gray wool suit with a red blouse and hat and other accessories of black. Her corsage was a white orchid.

Mr. and Mrs. Dukovcic are residing at Berwyn, Ill.

The bride was graduated from Perry-Lower Tyrone High School and St. Francis School of Nursing, Pittsburgh. Her husband is a graduate of Aliquippa High School and Geneva College.

WINTER suit costume to take the place of a coat of amber, white and black tweed combined with amber silk satin — comes from a new collection. The longer jacket, banded and bloused at the hipline, is lined with amber satin to match a bowed blouse with three quarter length sleeves.

Girl Scouts of Troop 23 Start New Projects

Girl Scout Troop 23 held its regular meeting on Monday evening at St. Paul Lutheran Church. Carole Amendola, president, presided Reports were given by Vicki DiBuono.

The girls discussed their fall program, and each girl is to decide on three special projects. The first project which will begin next week is the repair of the troop's investiture equipment.

After the business meeting, folk dancing was taught by Scout Cassie Peters. Other dances were taught by the leaders. The folk dancing will be taught again at next week's meeting.

Last week the girls held a Halloween party and prizes were awarded to Andrea Sotak for the prettiest, Janis Isaho and Susan Farr for the funniest, and Mrs. Jane Clingerman for the hardest to identify. Successful at bobbing for apples were Sally Stieska, Anne D. Pore, Vicki DiBuono, Susan Farr, and Janis Isaho.

Refreshments were served by Vicki DiBuono, Anne D. Pore, Margery Evans, and Ann Marie Fava. Carole Amendola, Linda Hamrock, Claire Laatu, and Janis Isaho were in charge of entertainment, and the decorations were by Bertie Stieska, Carole Cousins, and Sally Stieska.

St. Nicholas Sisterhood in Routine Meet

The Sisterhood of St. Nicholas Ukrainian Church met on Sunday evening in the church hall on Reed Ave., and made plans for holiday activities.

Mrs. Antoinette Kritsky, president, opened the meeting with a prayer. Routine reports were given by Mary Bogden, secretary, and Mrs. Anna Macik, treasurer.

Plans were discussed for the annual Thanksgiving supper which will be sponsored by the church on Sunday, Nov. 24, from 5 to 8 p.m. The supper is open to the public.

The women also voted to purchase new linens for the church.

The social hour was spent in playing games with Mrs. Mary Guibourdanche winning the prize.

Those members observing November birthdays were honored. Luncheon was served by the social committee with Mrs. Anna Kozik, acting chairman, assisted by Mrs. Ethel Kachmarik, Mrs. Mary Hlipnick, Mrs. Helen Kudlik, Mrs. Justina Kudlik and Mary Kosinsky.

The next meeting will be held on Dec. 1 with Mrs. Joseph Kudlik as chairman.

C D of A Members Attend Retreat At Greensburg

Catholic Daughters of America, Greensburg Diocese, sponsored a spiritual vacation with a retreat at St. Emma's Retreat House, Five Point Road, Greensburg. This week-end retreat, Nov. 1, 2, 3, began with supper on Friday evening and closed with tea on Sunday afternoon. Available daily for all retreatants were scheduled morning mass, communion, religious conference, spiritual reading, meditation and recollection.

St. Emma's is a new, modern 50 private room retreat house located northeast of Greensburg. Open the year round, St. Emma's is available to all Catholic Groups. The Benedictine Sisters prepare and serve the meals.

The retreat master for the CD of A-retreat was the Rev. Francis M. Philben, C S.Sp of Duquesne University. Father Philben of the Order of the Holy Ghost has spent six years in North Africa Missions. At every conference Father revealed an interesting and actual episode that took place in that primitive country. The highlight of the retreat was the most important thing in life-death-and one's preparation for it.

Young People Hold Election

Last evening the members of the Holy Name Youth Center held their second meeting of the season with the Rev. Joseph Gajdosik in charge.

Officers elected were Ray Gogol, president; Bill Miller, vice president; Jeri Baron, secretary and Phyllis Buchko, treasurer.

The new assistant pastor, the Rev. J. Stefko, was a guest.

Plans for future activities were discussed and the meeting closed with prayer.

State President to Visit Junior Club

Mrs. Woodrow R. Mattern, president of the Pennsylvania State Federation of Women's Clubs, will pay a visit to the Monessen Junior Women's Club next Tuesday evening.

The occasion will be the annual guest night, and the meeting will be held at the Park Casino at 8 p. m.

Mrs. John R. McGovern, Junior club president, will be in charge. Invitations have been issued to many district federated clubs as well as local individuals and organizations.

Mrs. Mattern is a resident of McClure and has served in many capacities in the state federated clubs before finally reaching the highest office among state clubwomen. During the immediate past administration Mrs. Mattern served as vice president at large and membership chairman for the state organization.

Civic Worker

She is a graduate of Juniata College and has done graduate work at Pennsylvania State University. She taught in the Huntingdon schools, and immediately became active in civic circles there.

Mrs. Mattern has served as president of the McClure Women's Club, vice president and president of the Snyder County Federation, and vice president of the North Central District of the State Federation.

Along with her club work Mrs. Mattern has found time to be active in other fields and is a member of the Commonwealth committee of the Women's Medical College in Philadelphia. This college is one of her pet projects and is widely supported by federated clubwomen.

The finance committee composed of Mrs. Stephen Druash, Mrs. James H. Farquhar, Carol Spiegelberg, Mrs. John S. Plavko and Mrs. Anthony C. Caterino will be in charge of arranging the tea table. Mrs. Farquhar will act as hostess.

The Hungarian Ladies Auxiliary held a card party on Monday evening at the hall on Seneca St.

Those winning high score awards at cards were Helen Domjancic and Kelly Szabo. Winning the guest prize was Mildred Rapsack. The special prizes were won by Anna Hobasky and Elizabeth Gansler.

Luncheon was served by a committee including Mrs. Elizabeth Szabo, chairman, Mrs. Susan Salay, co-chairman, Mrs. Mary Timcoe, Mrs. Elizabeth Weible and Mrs. Minnie Sedlar.

Meeting Held For Original Chatterbox Club

The Original Chatterbox Club met at the home of Norma DeMatteo on Rostraver St. last night.

Final plans for the Christmas party were made. It will be held Dec. 18 at Twin Coaches.

Cards were then played, and those receiving high score prizes were Norma DeMatteo, Carol Milika and Ann Kantsi.

The guest prize was won by Dorothy Senitta.

Luncheon was served by the hostess, and the next meeting was planned for Monday evening at the Senitta home on Motheral Ave.

Halloween Party Held by Kibitzer Club Members

Mrs. Clara Mae Ermlich was hostess to the members of the Kibitzer Club at her home recently. Halloween colors and motif were used in the decorations.

Games were played and those receiving prizes were Mrs. Virginia Arrigo, Mrs. Mae Fowkes, Mrs. Pearl Robbins and Mrs. Ruth Raymond.

Secret sister gifts were exchanged.

Luncheon was served by the hostess assisted by Betty Qualk and Pearl Robbins.

Mrs. Ada Crouch will be next hostess.

St. John Bible School PTA in Routine Meet

A meeting of the Parent Teacher Association of St. John the Divine Russian Orthodox Church Bible School was held on Monday evening in the church hall. The Very Rev. John Govrusik, church pastor, gave the opening prayer.

Mrs. Mary Felak, president, was in charge. Rlutine reports were given by Mrs. Elizabeth Jadyk, secretary and Mrs. Mildred Milosevich, treasurer.

A social hour followed and luncheon was served by Mrs. Margaret Bill, Mrs. Mary Zazac and Mrs. Antoinette Seydor.

The group planned for a bake sale on Nov. 17 in the church hall

LOCALS

ARE VITAMINS MEDICINE?

Door-to-door salesmen are selling "vitamin preparations" these days and you may think these are therapeutic doses. They may or may not be. Point is, that you can't know whether they are or not, and the salesman probably isn't qualified to know whether you ever need them. If you do need vitamins in the therapeutic quantities, only your physician can tell you what you need and how much, and only your registered pharmacist should dispense them. Where your health is concerned, always rely on competent professionals.

ON THE BALL

Wilkinsburg Back Atop AA Heap

Wilkinsburg has jumped back into first place in the Class AA WPIAL grid ratings following the victory over Jeannette Friday night and now tops Clairton, 121 points to 118 . . . Under the Gardner system a team may base its rating on the best five teams it plays after it wins more than five league games . . . Wilkinsburg, therefore dropped Trinity, which hasn't won a league game and counted the Jeannette tilt after winning a sixth game . . . The Big Four of Class AA circles now consist of Wilkinsburg, Clairton, New Kensington (116.7 points) and Uniontown (116.0 points) . . . Clairton can pick up points against Connellsville and Duquesne but ditto New Kensington against Latrobe, Hempfield and Turtle Creek.

Dennis Troychak, ex-Greyhound gridder received quite a buildup in Philadelphia papers last week prior to the Harvard game . . . Speaking of Penn, Coach Steve Sebo is really taking a blasting in the Philadelphia newspapers and campus news outlets . . . Duquesne and Pitt will battle George Washington and Miami of Ohio in the Steel Bowl Basketball Classic at the Pitt Field House Dec. 13 and 14 . . . The West Virginia University freshman basketball team squad has only one player on it under 6-1 and he's 5-11 . . . The average height is about 6-2 . . . Rumblings around the prefessional football circles indicate a wholesale turnover of coaches in the NFL before next season . . . Sid Gillman of LA, Lisle Blackburn of Green Bay, and Hugh Devore of the Eagles are all said to be on their way out.

Stardom Seen for Rostraver Lad

They say Willie Ross, now a ninth grader, is destined for football stardom at Rostraver High School, barring injury. Ross is a key member of the unbeaten Rostraver Juniors . . . He had a fine day against Perryopolis Monday to wind up his junior high career with two more touchdowns . . . His running mate Ray Allen is also quite a ball-player . . . Speaking of Rostraver Junior High, officials there claim every effort was made to play the postponed game with Fallowfield . . . A suggestion that a night game be played met with the argument that it wouldn't be fair as the Falcons don't play night ball . . . A shift of date suggestion met with more opposition but MV Junior High Conference officials have practically assured Rostraver they would be champions considering the perfect record chalked up by Ed Hogan's lads.

Duquesne University's 1957-58 basketball team will appear at the Connellsville Joint High School court Thursday evening, Nov. 21, under the sponsorship of the Connellsville Elks, it was announced today . . . The Dukes will participate in a clinic with Dudey Moore as "teacher" and an intra-squad game to follow . . . Also on the program will be examples of offensives and defensive court styles by the Charleroi High and Connellsville Joint High School teams . . . A flat rate is being charged for coaches and their entire teams to attend with all proceeds going to charities in the Connellsville Area . . . The Cougars are very much in demand again this year over their fine showing last season and expected repeat showing this season.

Brennan Guarantees Sell-out Crowd

Acquisition of Terry Brennan as the principal speaker for the annual Mon Valley Sportswriters Dinner on Dec. 11, assures a sell-out crowd what with all the Notre Dame alumni in this part of Pennsylvania . . . Already ticket orders are pouring in . . . News on the supporting cast for Brennan will be forthcoming soon . . . That was a tough break for St. Vincent College in that game with Kings College Sunday afternoon when the Bearcats had a 26-20 lead, little over one minute to play and the ball on the Findlay 22-yard line and the quarterback elected to pass . . . His arm was hit in attempting to get the ball away, it squirted over to an opposing player who scooped it up and ran 75 yards to a tying touchdown . . . The extra point was wide and Kings had tied, 26-26, as the game ended a short while later.

Today's Sports Parade—

Colosseum Not Large By Current Standards

By OSCAR FRALEY

ROME (UP) — Friends, Romans, countrymen, lend me your ears.

Fearless Fraley has come not to bury Caesar. Nor to praise him. I'd just like to see 'em put a wooden floor down at the Colosseum so that when the Olympic Games are held at Rome in 1960 the Greco-Roman rasslers can get legitimate.

This, if they're ever going to have a fitting place for such an event, is it. For, while the old brickpile is a bit moth-eaten, it once was the home of the gladiators and burping lions.

The hitch is that a special branch of the ministry of education which supervises national monuments must okay the idea. Up to now, in true Nero style, they've turned thumbs down and simply keep on fiddling while the Greco-Roman rasslers burn.

The ministry is just plain set in keeping the moths ahead of the muscles.

They're experts at it, too. As example, seven months ago it was decided to put in a new floor in the church of St. Peter's chains. This is the site of Michelangelo's world-famous marble statue of Moses, the one which was so lifelike when he finished it that, legend goes, he whacked a nick in the knee and dared it to "go ahead, speak."

Anyhow, when they started to dig down to lay the new floor, they found some old Roman paving stones. So the church has been silent for seven months, fresh dust gathers unnoticed on Moses' heroic marble brow, and the ministry can't seem to decide whether to dig up the whole interior of the church.

The oldest relic always takes precedent in Rome. That's why even the Greco-Roman rasslers, museum pieces of the Olympic Games, have to whoa back when it comes to invading the Colosseum. The ministry is afraid that they might dislodge a brick here or there, although personally I never saw such smash action in this type of what is quaintly referred to as rassling.

Being on my way out of Rome, I might even go so far as to say nobody would probably notice it even if they did bust up a bit of the blood-stained masonry. For, while the Colosseum might have been quite a stadium during the era of the great Roman marshmallow roast, it wouldn't be big enough now for Slippery Rock to play Lock Haven Teachers.

The arena, filled with a decomposing barracks which looks like a hastily gathered pile of Irish confetti, is but 94 yards long and 59 yards wide.

Duquesne Hard-luck Eleven

Duquesne High School's Little Dukes are currently wearing a hard-luck tag in the WPIAL race, the season mark of four wins, four losses failing to tell the entire story.

In the four losses suffered by the 14th edition of Coach John Donelli, former St. Vincent College star, the margin of defeat has been by only one touchdown.

Central Catholic topped the Little Dukes by 6-0, North Catholic by 20-12, Aliquippa by 19-12 and Johnstown by 7-0. The Johnstown loss came before the Aliquippa defeat and eliminated the then-unbeaten Dukes from the AA title race.

In the four victories posted by Duquesne, Elizabeth - Forward bowed by a 26-0 count, Turtle Creek by 21-6, Munhall by 13-7 and rugged McKeesport by 28-14.

12 Lettermen Back

The Donellimen have 12 lettermen back from the 1956 eleven which won seven last season, lost one and tied one in winning the tough Steel Valley Conference title.

Pacing the returning vets is Captain Mike Daniels, 5-9, 170-pound senior left halfback, who scored 12 touchdowns last season. Other vets in the backfield include Louis Coward 160-right half, Steve Barczy, 6-2, 188, fullback; Walt Jones, 6-0, 175 quarterback; and Dominic Salvucci, 160, right half.

Experienced linemen include Dennis Gedman 5-11, 195, left tackle; Fred Brubaker, 150-pound center; Marion Moore, 180, left end; Salvatore Napoli, 160, right guard; Calvin Stanley, 187, left tackle; Daryll Richey, 190, right tackle; and Thomas Schultz, 200, left guard. All are seniors but Moore, a junior.

Aggies, Sooners, Auburn Favored to Stay Unbeaten

NEW YORK (UP)—Texas A&M, Oklahoma and Auburn — the top dogs of college football — are favored to extend their unbeaten and untied records through another weekend of head-knocking.

The Aggies, who replaced Oklahoma as the top-ranked team in this week's United Press ratings, are picked to defeat Southern Methodist by at least two touchdowns.

Oklahoma is an 18-point favorite to make Missouri its 47th consecutive victim, and third-ranked Auburn is the choice by eight points over Mississippi.

All other members of the United Press top 10 are favored by at least one touchdown. Michigan State is a 14-point pick over Notre Dame, Iowa is 7 over Minnesota, Ohio State is 7 over Purdue, Army is a prohibitive "out" choice over Utah, Navy is 6 over Duke, Michigan is 6 over Illinois, Oregon is 12 over Washington, and Tennessee is 7 over Georgia Tech.

Three games were rated as toss-ups — Nebraska at Iowa State, Villanova at Detroit and South Carolina at North Carolina. In games with one-point spreads, Indiana was favored over Cincinnati, Arkansas over Rice and UCLA over Washington State.

Here are the point spreads for other leading Saturday games by sections:

East — Boston College 4 over Boston University; Dartmouth 19 over Columbia; Brown 4 over Cornell; Princeton 14 over Harvard; Yale 7 over Penn; Syracuse 7 over Holy Cross; West Virginia 6 over Pittsburgh.

Midwest — Kansas 5 over Kansas State; Wisconsin 8 over Northwestern; Penn State 20 over Marquette.

South — North Carolina State 17 over William and Mary; Clemson 4 over Maryland; Virginia Tech 2 over Wake Forest; Florida 9 over Georgia; Alabama 7 over Tulane; Mississippi 11 over LSU; Vanderbilt 7 over Kentucky.

Southwest—Texas 5 over Baylor.

Pacific Coast — Oregon State 7 over California; Stanford 6 over Southern California.

Eric Crabtree Sets New Midget Record

Eric Crabtree classy Jefferson halfback in the local Midget football League, gave future Midget Leaguers something to shoot for when he chalked up 85 points this season to smash all former league season scoring marks.

The 14 touchdowns (five in one game) and extra point, topped by 23 points the previous high posted by Ron Hornack of Vocational who checked in with 63 markers last season, also a new mark. Prior to the 63 posted by Hornak 62 had been the highest total posted.

Second Last Season

Crabtree had finished second last season with 49 points.

Second place this season goes to Stanley Hamlin, shifty Lincoln back who shows a 39 point total.

After Hamlin's 38, the total drops considerably as Ralph Nuzzaci of Vocational and Johnny Popovich of Frank-Lin tied for third place with 19 each, followed closely by Billy Runfola of Jefferson with 18 markers.

The complete list of scorers follows:

Player	TD	EP	Tl.
Crabtree, Jefferson	14	1	85
Hamlin, Lincoln	6	2	38
Nuzzaci, Vocational	3	1	19
Popovich, Frank-Lin	3	1	19
Runfola, Jefferson	2	6	18
Bellora, Jefferson	2	1	13
Tansmore, Lincoln	2	0	12
Destefano, Lincoln	1	2	8
Francia, Frank-Lin	1	2	8
Beveridge, Jefferson	1	1	7
Frezell, Jefferson	1	1	7
Tweardy, Frank-Lin	1	0	6

Steele, Jefferson	1	0	6
Kachmarik, Frank-Lin	0	3	3
Grant, Lincoln	0	1	1

Lehigh Leads Small College Balloting

NEW YORK (UP)—Lehigh, unbeaten in six games, drew a near-perfect vote of 9.9 of a possible 10 points today in the latest weekly balloting for the Lambert Cup, emblematic of the Eastern small-college football championship.

Lehigh was placed on top by 11 of the 12 members of the selection committee. Amherst, also with a 6-0 record, received the other first-place ballot and came next with an 8.9 rating. Others were Williams (6.7), Gettysburg (5.8), Tufts (5.4), Hofstra (4.8), Hobart (3-4, Juniata (2-2), Lafayette (1.5) and West Chester Teachers (1.4).

Midget League to List 'Stars' Soon

Look for the local Midget Football League All-Star team to be announced soon.

The Stars will battle the league-champion Jefferson eleven next Tuesday night at the Stadium here.

There was no Midget action this week, the teams having taken a week's rest upon completion of the regular season last week.

MHS to Honor Fathers Of Gridders Prior to Duquesne Tilt Friday

Special Program Preceding Game; Dads' Requested to Arrive Early

Fathers of Monessen High gridders will be honored prior to the Duquesne-Monessen game here Friday night, MHS Faculty Manager of Athletics Armand Mori announced today.

"We have been planning on paying honor to the Dads since the beginning of the season," Mori stated, "But due to the mixed up schedule what with the flu and what have you, we had to wait until now to do it."

Plans call for the fathers arriving at the Vocational School (beside the stadium) about 45 minutes before game time Friday night or around 7:15 o'clock. They are to report to the machine shop (or auto shop) where they will be given numbers corresponding to the numeral on their son's football jersey.

Wear Son's Number

The numbers for the fathers will be painted on signs to be carried on Dad's back. A section of Section 2 will be reserved for the fathers.

It is also planned to have coffee and doughnuts served the players and fathers after the game.

Mori explained that it was decided to avoid a half-time show to pay [illegible] the [illegible] the [illegible] quate half-time instructions from the coach.

Many valley schools now hold the ceremony before or after the game.

Mori also announced that reserved seat tickets would go on sale tomorrow night from 7 until 9 o'clock for the Duquesne tilt.

Bud Frantz Tops in BM Electric League

Bud Frantz was the No 1 man in the Blooming Mill Electric League action last night with a 233-561.

Petes, Buds and Rays took honors in the team matches.

Other top scorers in addition to Frantz were Pete Prokopovitch, Nick Tonini, Pete Urick, Ray Eckhart, Joe McGraw.

Standings — Rays 27-6, Petes 18-15, Buds 17-16, Joes 13-20, Steves 13-20 and Macs 11-22.

Utah Has 'First'

NEW YORK (UP — Utah will be the first member of the Skyline Conference ever to play at West Point next Saturday when it meets rugged Army in Michie Stadium. The Redskins currently lead the Skyline Conference with a 4-1 record and have an overall 4-3 mark compared to Army's 5-1 record.

Cenntanni, Gallo Pace St. Cajetans

Niagara and St. Johns were tied for first place in the St. Cajetan's Bowling League following last night's action.

Jack Centanni and Joe Gallo paced the scorers, Centanni with a single-game 204 while Gallo had a three-game 530 total.

Match winners were Loyola, Duquesne, St. Johns, St. Vincent, and Notre Dame.

Other top scorers were Joe Maiolini, Armand Niccolai, Joe Lukauch, Carmine Santoro, Tom Dalfonso, Fran Santoro, John Catanzaro and Frank DeLuca.

Standings — Niagara 15-9, St Johns 15-9, St. Francis 14-10, Notre Dame 13-11, Duquesne 13-11, Loyola 12-12, Fordham 11-13, St. Vincent 11-13, Villanova 10-14 and Georgetown 7-17.

Steelers Seek Revenge Sunday

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The revenge bent Pittsburgh Steelers got down to serious practice today in preparation for Sunday's battle with the Cleveland Browns in the lake city.

The Steelers are still smarting from the 23-12 setback handed them Oct. 5 by the Browns at Forbes Field. Coach Buddy Parker was determined to avenge the loss. Parker put his squad through a light workout Tuesday but scheduled a real head-knocking session today.

Guard Bill Michael, Ohio state rookie, rejoined the squad Tuesday. Michael suffered a fractured knee in the first meeting with Cleveland.

Pitt Runners Hand Mounties First Loss

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Pitt's cross-country team defeated West Virginia 51-48 over a muddy Schenley Park course Tuesday to give the Mountaineers their first defeat of the season.

The Panthers pulled a slam when Ron Rush, George Walters and John Christof crossed the finish line together in 24:30. Pitt's Vince Wojnar, Sam Grisciotti and Ron Goldstein, finished 4th, 5th and 6th.

West Virginia's Byron Riley and Sid Vinall came in 7th and 8th.

The Pitt harriers now have a 4-2 record while the Mountaineers are 7-1.

Lane Denies Thomas, Freese Deal for Ken Boyer, Schmidt

ST. LOUIS (UP)—Frank Lane, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, has denied a reported deal which would send Ken Boyer and pitcher Willard Schmidt to Pittsburgh in a trade for Frank Thomas and Gene Freese of the Pirates.

Lane did say Wednesday there has been some talk on the subject of trading with the Pirates but said Schmidt "hasn't even been mentioned."

"We're not trying to deal Boyer," he said. "Because of his natural talent he ought to be untouchable. He can do everything, but will he?"

Lane is attending a National League meeting in Chicago today.

Pirate General Manager Joe Brown said in Pittsburgh that the club has had several talks with the Cardinals but that no players were mentioned.

Brown admitted that "there are a number of Cardinals whose contracts we would like to secure."

"I expect to talk with Frank Lane again in the near future," Brown said. "I talked by phone with him when he was at his home in St. Petersburg, Fla., last week. And I had a wire from him a couple of days ago. I've talked with every club except the Brooklyn organization, either before, during or since the World Series."

Giardello Easily Defeats Greaves; Crowd Disapproves

DENVER (UP)— Joey Giardello said today he did his best to make a fight of it in his simple unanimous victory over young Wilf Greaves in a 10-round middleweight bout at Denver Tuesday night.

He couldn't say the same for his 21-year-old Canadian opponent who fights out of Pittsburgh.

"It takes two to make a fight you know," Giardello said when questioned about the booing that echoed through the Denver Coliseum. "I think I did my part."

Giardello, incidentally, has quite a winning streak working. He has won 12 of his last 13 fights. The other was a no-decision bout, so he actually has a winning streak of 12.

Now, Giardello wants to meet one of the top middleweights—champion Carmen Basilio or Gene Fullmer, former champion. Giardello is third-ranked contender behind Sugar Ray Robinson and Fullmer.

Steve Sebo to Get Ax at End Of '57 Season

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Although his contract has two more years to run, Steve Sebo will be fired as head football coach at the University of Pennsylvania at the end of the current season.

The United Press learned Tuesday that Sebo's status reached the university's highest echelon following Penn's defeat by Harvard last Saturday. It was Penn's sixth straight setback this year and the first time in 54 years the Quakers had lost to Harvard.

Under Sebo, Penn has won only four of its last 33 games. And that loss to Harvard was the final straw, a source close to the Penn head office disclosed.

Named head coach at Penn when George Munger resigned at the close of the 1953 season, Sebo completed his first three-year contract last year. He was then reappointed for another three years in the face of bitter opposition by the alumni.

The alumni has been on Sebo's back again this season, along with the student body and local newspapers. The Daily Pennsylvanian, undergraduate campus newspaper, called the athletic situation "close to intolerable."

"Sebo has again failed to inspire, to lead and to produce a winning football team," the student paper said. "None will deny that Sebo is a good technician, but none can say he is a leader of men, and for this reason he is unqualified to be head coach of the Pennsylvania football team."

Same Old Faces Dominate NFL's Individual Play

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—The National Football League skipped past the halfway point in its 12 game schedule with the same old faces dominating the individual performances.

Tommy Wilson of Los Angeles was the top rusher (496 yards) for the fourth week in a row; Eddie LeBaron of Washington, averaging 10.15 yards gained for every pass thrown, led the passers and Clyde Conner of San Francisco led the pass receivers with 27 completions.

But George Blanda of the Chicago Bears put his best foot forward to oust Jim Mutscheller of Baltimore as leading point-maker with 45.

Norm Van Brocklin of Los Angeles continued to set the punting pace with a 45.4 average; Joe Scudero of Washington led the punt-return pack with a 9.3 average and Don McIlhenny of Green Bay was head man in the kickoff-return department with a 32.3 average.

Jack Butler of Pittsburgh intercepted three passes last Sunday to boost his season total to a high of eight, two more than Jack Christiansen of Detroit.

Hugh McElhenny of San Francisco picked up 29 yards on Wilson, but not enough to better Wilson's 496 yards on 97 attempts for a 5.1 average. McElhenny has gained 419 yards on 88 carries for a 4.8 average. Jimmy Brown of Cleveland picked up 109 yards to vault from sixth to third place.

Where Are They Now?

BURLEIGH GRIMES

The last of the legal spitball pitchers in the major leagues, Burleigh Grimes stayed in the majors for 19 years and tossed his spitter for every National League club except the Reds and Phillies during that time. He prospered chiefly at Brooklyn in nine seasons but over-all he had five campaigns in which he won 20 or more games topped by 25-14 at Pittsburgh in 1928.

Whatever happened to Burleigh Grimes" Today, now 64, "Berling Burleigh" has retired to his farm at Trenton, Mo., but still insists "they ought to bring back the spitball."

Riddle with Reds

CINCINNATI (UP)—Johnny Riddle, dropped by the Milwaukee Braves after their victorious World Series, has signed to coach for the Cincinnati Redlegs next year. Riddle replaces ailing Frank McCormick.

Pitt Six-Point Choice Saturday

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The University of Pittsburgh football team, although hampered by injuries, was established a six-point favorite today to whip the West Virginia Mountaineers at Pitt Stadium Saturday.

The Mountaineers have suffered three straight defeats at the hands of the Panthers and have not won since 1953.

The Panthers were hampered somewhat by mud and rain as they worked out at Ellsworth Center Tuesday. Coach Johnny Michelosen was experimenting with replacements for two positions.

Reconciled to the loss of first-string center Charley Brueckman, Michelosen used Don Crafton at that position.

Right halfback Joe Scisly, still in Mercy Hospital, was also ruled out of the West Virginia game. Michelosen indicated that Jim Theodore will fill in at Scisly's spot. Theodore has been hobbled by injuries since the Oregon game.

Guard Ed Michaels was listed as a doubtful starter for West Virginia. Tackle Jim McCusker, guard John Guzik and halfback Dick Haley, all casualties of the Syracuse loss, were expected to be ready.

Some 10,000 West Virginia fans were expected to be in Pittsburgh Saturday for the annual battle.

Satterfield Meets King

OAKLAND, Calif. (UP) — Bob Satterfield of Chicago and Howard King of Reno, Nev., have signed to be held at Oakland Auditorium on Nov. 21.

Score Seeks Vote

CLEVELAND (UP) — Pitcher Herb Score and Cleveland Indian publicity director Nate Wallack changed roles Wednesday when the strikeout king showed up at a suburban University Heights precinct with a sign reading, "Now pitching for Wallack — Herb Score." Wallack was seeking election to the suburb's council.

Navy's Eddie Erdelatz Named UP 'Coach of Week' for Irish Win

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UP) — He once said "you have to be a little goofy to be a football coach."

He isn't goofy at all but rather, as one writer once described him, "as knowing as a chief petty officer and as wise as an admiral."

He isn't a braggart but was quick to say "we feel we are going to win every game we play."

He's Eddie Erdelatz of Navy, the United Press Coach of the Week after his Navy team whipped previously unbeaten Notre Dame, 20-6, Saturday and proved that sailors can travel via land and air, too.

Best Starting Backfield

Erdelatz has developed possibly the best starting backfield in the nation. In fact, he was so satisfied during spring practice that he called a halt after 17 days (three less than the NCAA limit).

Don't get the idea that the 44-year-old Erdelatz is over-confident. He just knows a good thing when he sees it. When Navy wins, he gives the credit to "our great players." When the Middies lose, he says "it's all my fault."

Living up to personal tradition, Erdelatz attributed the win over Notre Dame to his players, assistant coaches and the Navy student body.

"We have exceptional spirit at the Academy," he explained. "The Midshipment chipped in $550 to have their cheers piped into the Notre Dame Stadium.

Eddie is easy going, quick to laugh and insists that everyone call him by his first name, a novelty at Annapolis where just about everyone except the waterboy rates a "sir."

After graduation from St. Mary's College in California in 1935, Erdelatz served as line or end coach at his alma mater, the University of San Francisco, Navy and the professional San Francisco 49'ers, with time out for a hitch as a World War II naval officer.

Will Navy beat Army again this year?

"We have enough to worry about this week against Duke," Erdelatz smiled. "We play them one at a time."

Macias Favored Over Hamia On TV Tonight

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Raul Macias, a fast-punching little man from Mexico City, enters the ring tonight a narrow 10-8 favorite to whip handsome young Alphonse Halimi of France and Algeria and thus win undisputed possession of the coveted world's bantamweight boxing championship.

A whooping, screaming crowd of better than 35,000 — 90 per cent Mexicans — is expected to be on hand to view the hostilities. And promoter Cal Eaton says the fight will be held no matter how hard it pours.

The weather man predicted "60 per cent chances" of rain today. But Eaton said that it was practically impossible to postpone a fight that is to be televised (ABC) nationally (7 p.m. p.s.t.).

The two warriors have lost only one bout each in battling their way to the top.

Halimi, who holds the European boxing union crown, has a record of 20-1; Macias has 31-1. Halimi has scored 12 knockouts and the Mexican ace 19.

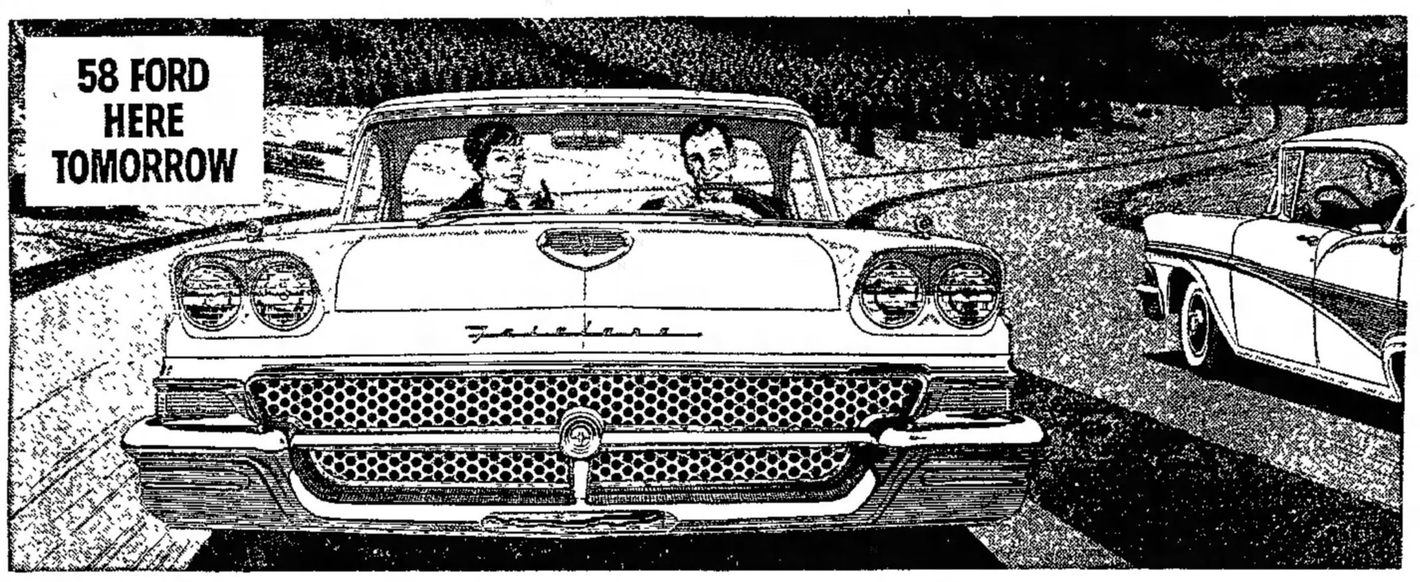
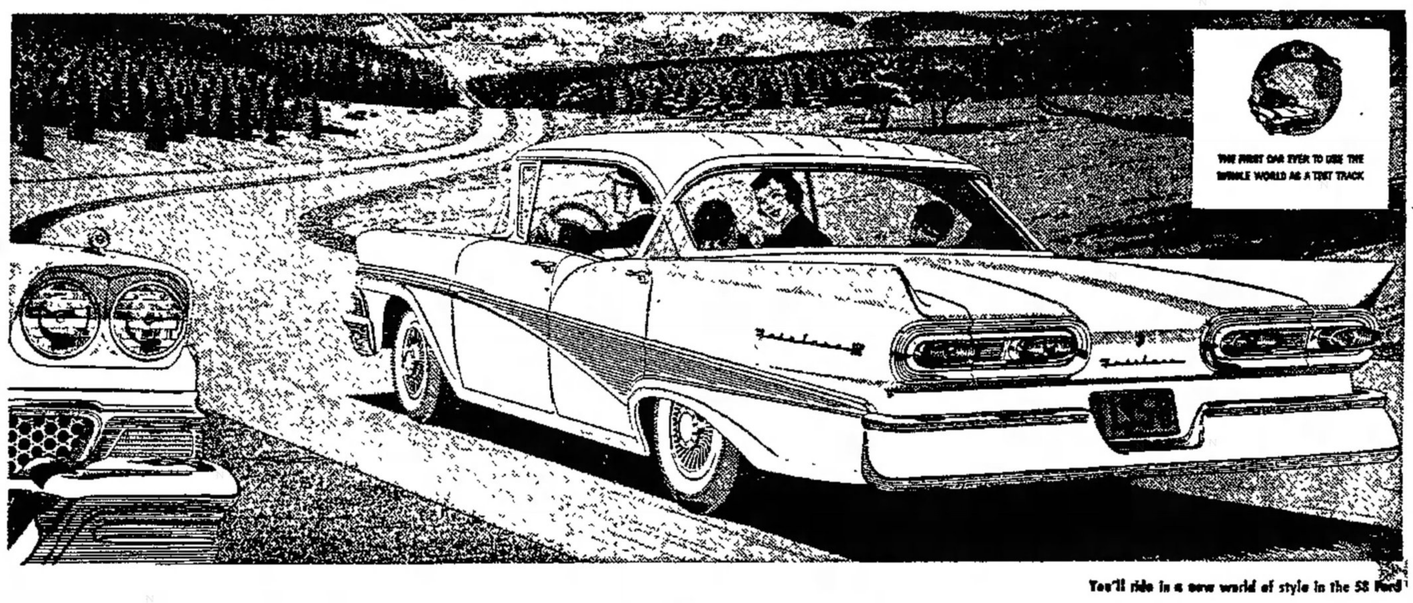
Proved and approved around the world and now it's here for you... the 58 FORD



One look tells you... there's nothing newer in the world!



You'll ride in a new world of style in the 58 Ford

New deep-sculptured styling
New Interceptor V-8 power
New Cruise-O-Matic Drive
New Ford-Aire Suspension
New Magic-Circle Steering

The 58 Ford is the newest car in the world—the only car ever to meet a world-wide test and win world-wide approval before its public premiere.

Here's a car so new, so beautiful it made eyes pop from Paris to Pakistan . . . a car so rugged it proved its mettle in a road test around the entire world! What's more, it did it on surprisingly little gas—thanks to new Precision Fuel Induction. Come in and let us show you the world's most beautiful new bargain!

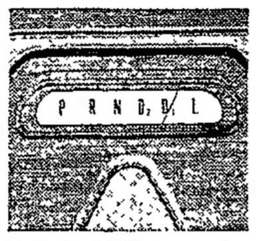
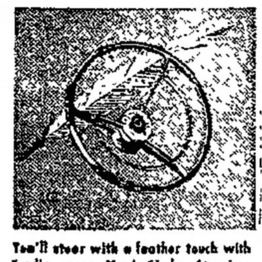
You'll be ahead with Ford's new Interceptor V-8 and Precision Fuel Induction. There's nothing newer than these engines that give you up to 300 hp. Smoother power! From less gas! One secret is Precision Fuel Induction, a wonderful new carburetion, fuel feeding and combustion system.



You'll get up to 15% more gas savings with new Cruise-O-Matic Drive teamed with the new Interceptor V-8. New D1 position, used for all normal driving, lets you move smoothly, automatically—with just a touch of your toe—from solid feeling take-off right up to highway cruising speeds.

You'll ride on a cloud instead of a spring with Ford-Aire Suspension. Four air pillows literally soak up the bumps! And Ford's new air suspension relevels the car every time someone steps inside or luggage is loaded. An extra cost option, you get all this at freakonomically low Ford prices!



You'll steer with a feather touch with Ford's new Magic-Circle Steering. Nothing rolls like a ball, and that's the secret of Ford's handling ease. Free moving steel balls in the steering mechanism are virtually friction-free—give you the closest thing yet to power steering! Come in and try it!

Come in tomorrow... Action Test America's only world-proved car! 58 FORD desire to remain mayor during Pittsburgh's bicentennial celebration in 1958 and during the completion of most of the city's vast rebuilding and modernization program.

Lawrence said his victory was "an endorsement of the Pittsburgh program and a mandate to go forward."

Backing the 68-year-old mayor was the unusual combination of a powerful Democratic political machine and Republican "big money," which has been a big factor in the Pittsburgh renaissance.

Hanlon Wins Handily

In Scranton, Mayor Hanlon won handily over his Republican opponent, Harry Lewis, 27,857 to 18,251. Hanlon carried into office with him the Democratic candidates for tax collector, four seats on City Council and three on the school board. The Democratic victory carried into Lackawanna County where the party made a clean sweep.

Disclosures of labor racketeering in Scranton during Senate Rackets Committee hearings last year did not figure in the election. Hanlon's name had been brought up in the hearings.

Other mayoralty results:

Beaver Falls: Democrat John Buksa defeated Republican Roy J. Davidson. Buksa had defeated Mayor Edward C. Corcoran in the Democratic primary.

Bethlehem: Mayor Earl Schaffer, Democrat, won reelection to a third term, defeating Republican Leonard Rice.

Butler: Democrat Harry Pepper ousted Republican Mayor Walter Schwepe. Pepper's victory in a close race was an upset.

Clairton: Mayor Kenneth L. Stilley, Democrat, won a second term, defeating Republican James F. Kemp.

Connellsville: Democrat Robert McLuckey defeated Republican Harold Dull. Abe I. Daniels, Republican, did not seek reelection.

Corry: J. Fred Kinley, Democrat, ousted Republican Mayor Earl T. Cherry. Four years ago Cherry had ousted Kinley from the office.

Duquesne: Republican Mayor Frank Kopriver Jr. won reelection to a fourth term, defeating Leonard Steisey, blind assistant district attorney.

Franklin: Forest B. Irwin, Republican, defeated Democrat Fred Plummer. R. R. Bleakley Jr., Republican, did not seek reelection.

Greensburg: Homer Ruffner, Republican, defeated Democrat DeWeese B. Armbrust. Andrew J. Hudock, appointed mayor following the death of Republican Robert L. Potts, did not run for election.

Hazleton: Mayor S. Thomas Capparell, Republican, won reelection over Democrat Joseph Conahan.

Jeannette: Democrat Edward A. Wolfe defeated Republican Edward Ferris. Wolfe had defeated Mayor Frank Binda in the primary.

Lancaster: Thomas J. Monaghan became the city's first Democratic mayor since 1933, defeating Republican Harold W. Budding.

Meadville: George X. Simonetta, Democrat, defeated Republican B. W. Mossman.

McKeesport: Mayor Andrew Jakomas, Democrat, won a second term, defeating Republican Clifford Flegal.

Nanticoke: Mayor Frank E. Kielar, Republican, won re-election over Democrat Andew L. Antolik.

New Kensington: Mayor Raymond Gardlock, Democrat, won a third term, defeating Republican Norman Koontz.

Pittston: Patrick J. O'Brien, Republican, defeated John C. McNamara. Joseph F. Saporito, Republican, did not run for re-election

Voters Give Korean Bonus Bill Approval

By UNITED PRESS

Pennsylvania veterans of the Korean War were a giant step closer today to receiving a 150-million dollar state bonus.

Voters balloted overwhelmingly Tuesday to change the 83-year-old state Constitution to permit creation of an additional bonded indebtedness of 150 million dollars to pay Korean War veterans a bonus similar to the one granted World War II veterans.

Also approved overwhelmingly was another constitutional change to authorize absentee voting for certain civilians. This would give qualified electors the right to cast mailed ballots if unavoidably absent from the state or county of their residence, or are unable to go to polling places because of illness or physical disability.

Tax Program Necessary

Returns from the state's 67 counties showed the Korean bonus winning, 720,069 to 295,560 and the absentee vote ahead 726,135 to 203,187.

The 1959 Legislature still has to enact a tax program to finance payments to between 325,000 and 400,000 veterans who served during the Korean conflict.

The constitutional amendment contained a restrictive provision that the debt may not be incurred until the General Assembly enacts revenue raising measures sufficient to amortize the amount borrowed, either in new taxes or boosts in existing levies.

The next Legislature also would have to draw up the absentee voting machinery by which the right would be exercised, with specific changes in the state Election Code.

Foreign Service Extra

Servicemen holding the "Korean Service Medal" would be paid $15 for each month of overseas service between June 27, 1950 and July 27, 1953. All other veterans would receive compensation at the rate of $10 per month regardless of where they served during the period.

World War II veterans received an average $368 which the state financed with 440 million dollars in bonds, a little more than a third of which have been retired.

Veterans of World War I and the Spanish-American War were given a bonus averaging $139 each by the state in 1934. A 50-million dollar bond issue to finance it was retired in 1955.

Big Majorities For Democrats In Rostraver

Rostraver Twp.'s powerful Democratic machine scored another impressive victory at the polls yesterday.

Democratic candidates won every contest, most of them by better than two-to-one margins.

As usual, it was Pricedale — home of Chief County Detective Arthur (Buddy) Turner — which turned in the heaviest pluralty for the Democrats. The margin there was four-to-one all down the line.

County Coroner Stephen Yoney led the vote-getting in the township with 2367 compared to 889 for his Republican opponent Joseph R. Hunter. All other Democratic candidates polled 2,000 or more votes in Rostraver.

In the local races, J. J. Donley was reelected tax collector: John Indof was elected road supervisor, and Mary Anderson was picked as auditor.

Incumbent school directors Samuel Weightman and Peter Backstrom easily won reelection.

Both constitutional amendments won the overwhelming approval of township voters. The Korean bonus was okayed 1,803 to 438 while the absentee ballot was approved 1,799 to 416.

Bingo Given OK In New York for Worthy Causes

ALBANY, N.Y. (UP)—New York voters Tuesday gave resounding approval to a constitutional amendment designed to make the playing of bingo legal so long as it is conducted for a worthy cause.

New York thus became the ninth state to approve such a proposal.

The measure was approved by a smashing 750,000 votes. At least half the persons taking part in the election did not even bother to vote on the proposal.

The referendum measure won overwhelming approval in New York City, where two out of three voters voted "yes." In Brooklyn, where bingo has flourished for years without legal sanction, 241,395 persons were in favor of the proposal. Total New York City vote was 779,688.

Upstate, the ratio was about six to five in favor of the amendment, which gives cities, towns and villages the right to hold referendums to determine whether religious, social and fraternal organizations may conduct bingo games for worthy causes.

Chief opposition to provisions of the bingo referendum came from the Protestant Council of the City of New York and the Protestant New York State Council of Churches.

Democrats Sweep in B. Vernon

Democrats again made a clean sweep in Belle Vernon yesterday in about the only community in this district had a two-way fight in every contest but burgess.

In the feature contest Steven E. Smith, incumbent tax collector, won out over Florence Hassen, a widow who pulled a surprisingly big write-in vote to win the Republican nomination. The count was 368 to 158.

William Venneri was reelected burgess, having won both nominations in the primary.

In an eight-man race for the four council posts, Albert Dominick, Lawrence Teano, Alex Basits and George Fedarko won out over James R. Hassen Jr., Harold T. Ringstad Jr., Kenneth Beazell and Andrew Skruber.

The two school director posts went to incumbents, T. Gerald Stanley and J. E. Kuhn over Harry Hackenson Jr.

Democrat Ousts GOP for D. A. in Lawrence County

NEW CASTLE, Pa. (UP)—Democrat Joseph Solomon ousted Republican Perry L. Reeher as district attorney of Lawrence County in one of Tuesday's most bitterly contested races.

With all but one of Lawrence County's 99 districts reported, Solomon had 16,479 votes to 14,771 for Reeher.

Reeher has been accused of conspiracy in connection with the distribution of alleged libelous campaign literature which attacked certain candidates in the May primary, including his GOP opponent.

Eight persons have been indicted on charges of printing and distributing the literature. Reeher claimed the whole business was a political frame-up

Fayette City Contests

Democrats swept to victory in Fayette City yesterday copping the four council posts in the only contests in that borough's general election.

A new burgess was elected, Sherman W. Craft, who was unopposed. He replaces Howard Opfar, who did not run for reelection.

Marion DeRienzo led the ticket in the council fight with 415 votes. The other three winners were Raymond E. Ermlick, Louis Alberta and Jacob Zubovic.

They were opposed by Irwin Abbott, R. M. Richardson and William Gardner Jr. De Rienzo won the nomination on both tickets.

Charles Humphries was unopposed for tax collector; George Hancock and James E. Hamer were unopposed for school directors as was Richard Weightman for justice of the peace and Harry E. Nelson for auditor.

GOP Upset Recorded

Jerry Weiss, a registered Republican, pulled a surprising upset in yesterday's general election in Washington Twp. winning reelection as road supervisor in a bitterly contested race.

Weiss, who lost in the Democratic primary election to Charles Summers, won the Republican nomination on a write-in vote.

Although Weiss is listed as a Republican by the Fayette County Elections Board, he ran on the Democratic ballot in the primary.

The election, which drew one of the township's biggest turnouts despite the rain, was featured by charges and counter-charges from both sides. Weiss even claims he was threatened over the telephone to pull out of the race.

To give some indication of the amount of interest in the race, Fairhope, the township's largest precinct, turned out 1117 voters out of a total registration of 1450.

Weiss pulled 884 votes to Summers' 746, beating his opponent in the Fairhope precinct.

There were no other contests.

Guy Winn was elected tax collector; Stanley E. Koslasky and John Kasuda, school directors; Harry Muckle, auditor and Michael J. Mitchell, assessor.

Furlong Wins Sheriff Race In Washington

WASHINGTON, Pa. (UP) — Three Democratic county office holders won re-election by wide margins in Tuesday's balloting in Washington County.

Grant Furlong won his fourth term as sheriff by defeating Republican Joseph Daugherty; Recorder of Deeds John D. Woodward turned back the bid of Harold T. Balmer for the job, and Controller Peter Elish was a handy winner over William C. Masters.

With 121 of the 187 districts in the county reporting, the count showed:

Sheriff: Furlong 20,574; Daugherty 10,932.

Recorder of Deeds: Woodward 20,448; Balmer 10,708.

Controller: Elish 19,747; Masters 11,518.

In the voting in the city of Washington councilmanic voting, the two parties split the decision. George K. Krause, a Democrat, won re-election, but the other seat at stake went to Republican William E. Amos, one of Washington & Jefferson College's all-time football greats.

Amos defeated Steve A. Shook, who won out in the primary over Allan Schultz, an incumbent.

Rostraver P. T. A. Holds Teachers Night Monday

The Rostraver P.T.A. met on Monday evening in the High School auditorium. Approximately 100 attended.

Eva Altier, president, opened the meeting, and invocation was given by Frances Pasierb.

After the pledge of allegiance, reports were read by Leona Stewart, secretary; Frances Pasierb, acting treasurer, and Kay Yoder, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. Altier announced that an area meeting will be held Nov. 21 at Sutersville and asked for a large representation from the Rostraver group. She also stated that an invitation had been extended to the group to attend cub scout meetings which are held the last Thursday of each month.

The membership chairman reported a membership of 255, and announced that all of the High School and LaGrange teachers had joined the PTA.

Since this was "teachers night," Clifford Naylor, High School principal introduced teachers present and told what subjects they teach. Teachers present were Mrs. McAlpine, Mrs. Waite, Miss Gess, Mrs. Willson, Mrs. Hawker, Miss Bucci, James Weir, Mr. Porter, Mr. Bender, Mr. McNutt, Mr. Rodebaugh, Mr. Sapko, Mr. Everett, Mr. Gacella and Mrs. Jones.

Naylor also mentioned the names of teachers absent due to other activities.

Open house will be held Nov. 12, and anyone is invited to attend, according to Naylor. Three half-hour classes will be open for observation.

The Junior High School students present were introduced by Mrs. Altier. They were Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Bernowski and Mr. Hogan. Others presented were Mr. Gilmer, superintendent of the elementary school; Mr. Uram, president of Central Fire Department and Mr. Carrozza, scoutmaster of Boy Scouts.

In the absence of Mr. Samoda, principal of LaGrange, Mrs. Knutilla introduced the La Grange teachers, Mrs. Nash. Mrs. Kopp, Miss Browneller, Mrs. Sarbar, Mrs. School and Mrs. Curnow.

The attendance banner was won by the second grade, taught by Mrs. Kopp.

Each teacher was presented with a boutonniere or a corsage.

Mrs. Gertrude Sersen gave several readings, after which a chorus of 25 voices from the Junior High School sang several selections. Directed by Mrs. Bernowski, they sang "America Our Heritage". Margaret Buscanics and Judy Paholski sang a duet, "Legend" and "So, How a Rose E'er Blooming." After the chorus sang "The Lord's Prayer" a quintet composed of Diane Rousseau, Sandy Morgan, Ruth Levin, Sharon Balko and Sharon Boyd sang "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes," and "Nocture." The chorus closed with one of Irving Berlin's compositions.

Novak Boy is Given Party on 10th Birthday

Charles Novak Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Novak Sr. of R. D. 3, Belle Vernon was honored with a birthday party recently. He was celebrating his 10th birthday anniversary.

The home was decorated for the occasion, and a large birthday cake, baked by his mother, centered the table.

Games were played and prizes awarded to Mary Alice Brightwell, Evelyn Barnhart and Patricia Rhoades.

Luncheon was served by Mrs. Novak and each child was presented with a favor.

Those present were Judy Fish, Scotty Lynch, Norma Barnhart, Mary Alice Brightwell, Mary Louise Moskall, Patricia Rhoades, Pamela Novak, Evelyn Barnhart, Frances Mae Moskal, Michael Novak and Mrs. Mary Moskal.

The honored guest received many gifts.

Guest Speaker Last Sunday

The Rev. Joe Marasco, pastor of the Broad Avenue Christian Church, Belle Vernon was guest speaker on Sunday evening at the Webster Methodist Church. He also conducted the song service, and sang two solos, "I Know Who Holds Tomorrow" and "Crown of Thorns."

The opening prayer was offered by the church pastor, the Rev. John W. Shell.

The sermon subject chosen by the Rev. Mr. Marasco was "Transformation or Conformation."

The Rev. Mr. Shell gave the closing prayer.

Ushers were Alfred Hamilton and Sam Colossimo. Madge Hamilton was pianist.

Jan Smith, Bud Hamilton, Leta Bailey, Lois Ahlborn and Joy Gilmer represented the Webster Methodist Church at the Echo service held at the Mt. Lebanon Methodist Church on Sunday.

Mrs. Oliver Van Kirk of Belle Vernon R.D. is a patient in the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital.

Local Persons Attend Sunday School Meeting

Among the 5,000 Sunday School enthusiasts attending the 12th annual National Sunday School convention in Grand Rapids Oct. 30-31-Nov. 1 were Mr. and Mrs. George D. Johnston and Mrs. Eugene Acheson of Belle Vernon R. D. 2.

The three-day sessions, held in the Civic Auditorium, majored in the practical. Eighty workshop sessions stressed the application of modern educational techniques and teaching tools to the Sunday School, and the convention agenda featured additional Seminars (on "Inductive Bible Study") and Institutes (three-session conferences on one topic). Unique feature of this year's convention was a demonstration of the famed "brainstorming" technique, developed in industry and secular education, as it can be used in the Sunday School situation.

The Grand Rapids conclave, was the second of "twin" national conventions held this year. The first meeting, in Los Angeles, Cal. was held Oct. 9-11.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnston and Mrs. Acheson were delegates from the People's United Church, Uniontown.

All young people are urged to attend a meeting this evening at 7 o'clock at the Webster Methodist Church. The purpose of the meeting is to reorganize the Rostraver Youth Choir. The Rev. Joe Marasco will be the new leader.

The Hungarian Ladies Auxiliary of Pricedale will meet tomorrow evening in the Hungarian Hall for the regular monthly meeting.

Mrs. Mary Steele, Bellmar High School librarian, and Mrs. Lois Goldbert, librarian at Rostraver Junior High School, attended the fall meeting of the Council of School Librarians of Suburban Pittsburgh It was held in the new library of the Mt. Lebanon Senior High School last Saturday.

A representative of the Library Binding Institute spoke to the group on the subject, "Pre-Bind or Re-Bind."

Reports were given by Agnes Krarup on the recent state Library Conference at Bedford Springs, and Ruth Foy, PSEA Chairman of School Libraries Division, announced plans for a conference in Harrisburg in December.

There was an intermission in the program for luncheon in the cafeteria.

Canteen Committee Elected By Legion Post Members

A new canteen committee was elected at the meeting of Belle Vernon American Legion Post 639 on Monday evening at the Post Home. Elected were George Semich, Sam Strighill, Jack Glister, Melvin Bossetti, Milan Franceschi and Lou Nogy.

First Vice Commander Eugene Venneri conducted the session in the absence of Commander Jack Richwine. He reported on membership and announced that a membership round-up will be held in Latrobe on Nov. 17. From Nov. 10 to 17 is "American Legion Week" and a membership drive will be conducted in all posts

It was announced that the Belle Vernon membership drive will end on Jan. 31. Two teams are now competing in obtaining the largest number of members. The losers will honor the winners at a social event when the contest closes.

The applications of five new members were approved. They were those of Clinton Alpater, Walter Ornot, Joseph Garofalo Jr., Al Wujcik and Donald Wood

Roy Sterner reported on the Thanksgiving project. Blood Donor Chairman James Koslosky announced that a rare blood donation was made by the post at the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital recently.

The members were reminded of a turtle soup social on Thursday, Nov. 19. There will be no charge for members and guests.

It was voted to participate in a Christmas gift program for veterans. Al Frank reported that the American Flag and Legion Flag needed new poles. He was instructed to purchase new aluminum poles and have the flags cleaned for the Veteran's Day observance on Nov. 11 at California.

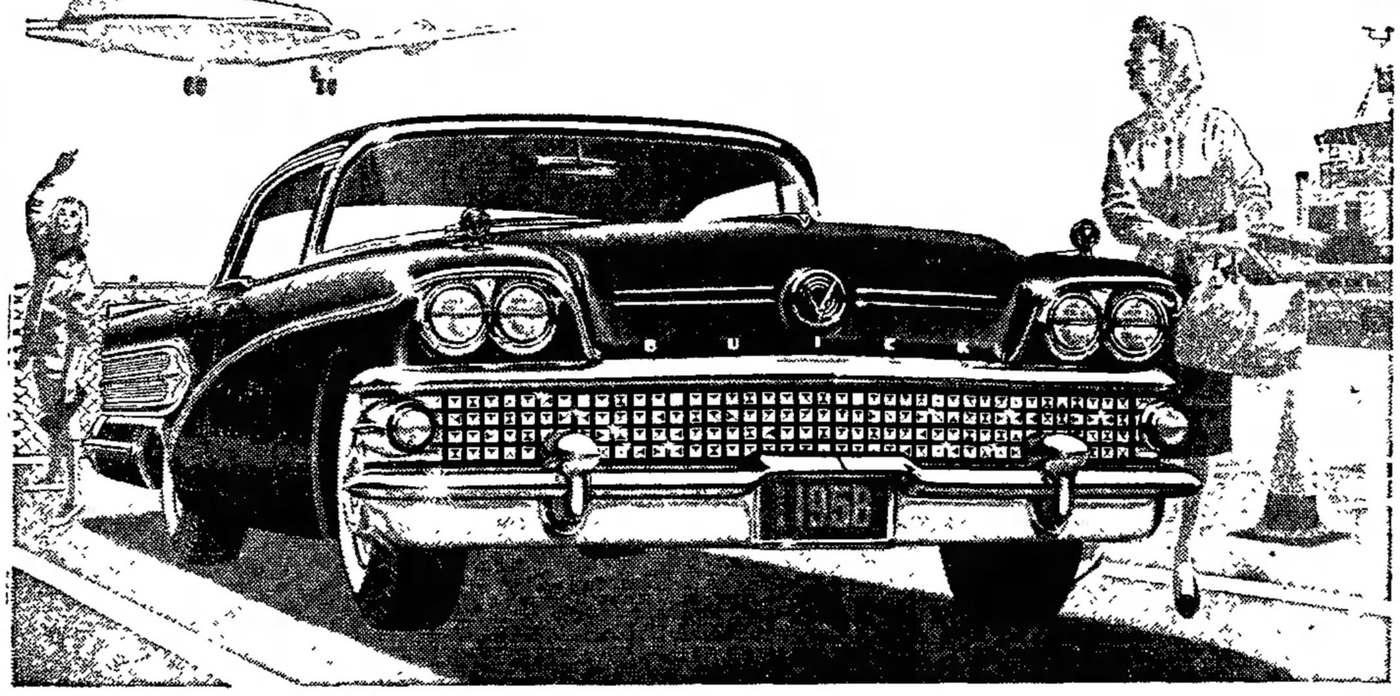
B-58 BUICK


Born of more Aircraft Principles than any other car yet built

HERE—coming to you from the freshest blueprints in years—is a car built to make your driving as modern as your thinking.

This one's built with more aviation principles throughout than any car before.

There's a greater use of airweight aluminum in its form and structure—in its engine—in its styling—even in its quick-cooling brakes.

There's an air-borne feeling of flight in its performance with Buick's B-12000 engine and with Flight Pitch Dynaflow* that can switch the pitch a million ways.

And everywhere you go—you travel in new comfort with Buick's Miracle Ride plus Air-Poise Suspension.*

So this is a car of truly exciting ideas for 1958—the Air Born B-58 Buick.

And you should see it and drive it at your Buick dealer's soon. Come on in today.

ALL IN ONE YEAR— ALL IN THIS BIG, BUOYANT BUICK

Flight Pitch Dynaflow* — Lets you switch the pitch a million ways for exact power delivery at every phase of travel — gives smooth, instant response.

B-12000 Engine — Up to 10 to 1 in compression, and with 12,000 pounds of thrust behind every piston's power stroke. Most modern engine possible to build for today's fuels.

Miracle Ride plus Buick Air-Poise Suspension* — You ride on four self-levelizing columns of compressed air — stay on a constant level, regardless of passenger load or road conditions.

Sparkling Fresh Styling — From wide-sweeping Dynastar Grille to steepled tail towers, this is the bold face of fashion for '58.

Air-Cooled Aluminum Brakes — Heavier-lined, extra-powerful brakes with 45 radial fins that fan in cooling air. Smoother, more positive braking and longer lining-life. (Standard on most models.)

Magnificent Changes Through and Through — "Velvet wall" sound silencing, hidden exhausts, center-of-percussion vibration control, ball-joint handling — plus many others!

*Flight Pitch Dynaflow standard on LIMITED and ROADMASTER 75, optional at extra cost on other Series. Air-Poise Suspension optional at extra cost on all Series.

When better automobiles are built Buick will build them

BONN, Germany (UP) — West Germany will end its contribution to the cost of allied troops stationed in this country next March 31, a foreign office spokesman said today. The spokesman added, however, that under the North Atlantic Treaty, nations with troops stationed in West Germany could seek bilateral negotiations with Bonn over support costs after that date.

HOLDING A TOY PLANE MODEL, John Kirby, 5, looks with wonder at the intricately-designed X-405 rocket engine on display in Washington. Developed at General Electric's Project Vanguard plant in Cincinnati, Ohio, the engine will provide about a 27,000-pound thrust for the first stage of a new earth satellite vehicle.

Steel Experts Claim Russia Is 20 Years Behind in Techniques

CHICAGO (UP)—Three American steel research men recently returned from Russia said Monday night that despite Sputnik I and II, the Soviets are 20 years behind America in steel production techniques.

Dr. Walter R. Hibbard Jr. of the General Electric Research Laboratory, Schenectady, N.Y., and Dr. J. Herbert Hollomon, also of GE, joined David Swan, a Union Carbide Linde Co. staff member, in expressing the opinion. They were in Chicago in connection with the World Metallurgical Congress here.

Hollomon was a three - week guest of the National Academy of Sciences of Russia in September. Hibbard and Swan were members of a group of U.S. metallurgists who spent three weeks in the Soviet Union last month.

U.S. Grads More Alert

The three agreed that top U.S. technological graduates seem to have more imagination and initiative than their Russian counterparts.

Swan said the Russian "crash program" method of producing scientists "blunted originality and dulled initiative."

Because of this, the three said, the West should be wary of instituting a "speed up" program to match Soviet training programs.

The president of Crucible Steel Co. of America, Pittsburgh, Pa., told delegates to the congress today that science can help industry to combat inflation and rising replacement costs.

Joel Hunter, in an address to the Awards Luncheon of the American Society for Metals, said that new ways of doing things, with productivity as the incentive, can be found by scientific researchers.

But at present, Hunter said, industries using large and heavy equipment have no "ready answer" to the problem of replacing equipment which costs "three or four times" as much as it used to.

The ASM presented its Howe medal to three researchers who co-authored a technical paper. Receiving the medal were F.N. Thines, W. E. Bond and Miss M. A. Kissel. All of the Carnegie Institute of Technology.

A $2,000 teaching award went to Dr. Amos J. Shaler, of Penn State University.

Harold R. Warsmith of Columbus, Ohio, received an award from the Gray Iron Founders' Society.

Several industrialists were given distinguished life memberships in the ASM. They were Joseph Block of Inland Steel Co, Roger M Blough of U.S. Steel Corp.; John Thompson of International Nickel Co.; Eugene Grace of Bethlehem Steel Co.; I.W. Wilson of the Aluminum Co. of America; and Hunter.

Dog Lovers Protest

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Tail-Waggers Foundation of America, an organization of dog lovers, is demanding that the United Nations and the State Department do what they can to rescue the dog aboard Sputnik II. The Tail-Waggers sent a telegram to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and U.N. Secretary Dag Hammarskjold Tuesday condemning the use of a live dog in the space project.

To Refloat Liner

CORK, Ireland (UP)—Work was begun today on the re-floating of the 10,000-ton Greek liner Neptunia which struck Daunt Rock off the coast of Ireland Saturday. A Greek line official said the liner, now settled in the mud of Cork Harbor, would be re-floated probably by Nov. 13.

Has Plan for Suez Reopening

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—Secretary - General Dag Hammarskjold proposed today that costs of reopening the Suez Canal should be reimbursed by a three per cent surcharge on canal tolls to be paid into a special United Nations fund.

In a report to the General Assembly, Hammarskjold said the proposed surchage would pay off in three years the $8,37,042.87 spent in clearing the canal and restoring normal operations after the Egyptian crisis of last year.

His report reviewed the full extent of the canal clearance operation. Eleven nations have advanced $11,227,453 22 to the U.N. as loans since December, 1956, but Hammarskjold's report showed that the critical task had been carried out at a cost well below original expectations.

Flu in Service

FRANKFURT, Germany (UP)—The U.S. Army in Europe has reported 29,000 flu cases so far this year and the Air Force 12,600 as of Oct. 30, it was announced today. There have been no deaths due to flu among U.S. servicemen or civilians stationed with the armed services in Europe.

Prolific Author Loses Some of That Zip

By DOROTHY FLANDERS

ST. LOUIS (UP)—The flashing fingers of Jim Lumpp are slowing down.

At 48, this part-time author has not got the old speed or endurance any more.

Not long ago, Lumpp was regarded as a one-man book-of-the-month factory. He could turn out a 50,000-word novel over a weekend. Once wrote 22 paperback novels in three years. That's when he averaged one a month for a spell. But this year, he's been taking it easy. Jim has written a mere 18 stories so far this year Short stories, at that.

The lanky author, who does all this extra-curricular composition in his spare time, works full-time as advertising manager for Union Electric Co. of St. Louis. The slow-down is perhaps a case of too much too fast. "Pounding a typewriter two or three hours every night and all day Saturday was wearing me out," says Lumpp, sometimes known as Amos Hatter.

His manuscript mass production started in 1952 when he contracted to write a 50,000-word novel. Trouble was he made the same contract with three different publishers. Lumpp, alias William Vaneer, Ben West and Frederick Spencer, rose to the occasion and satisfied all the publishers. "I got to the point where I could produce a novel in 50 hours," he said. "That's a thousand words an hour."

Lumpp, who pounded out 25 novels in the past five years, works so fast that he never has time to read his stuff. He leaves that chore to his wife, who proofreads his manuscripts and bundles them off to the publisher.

Plots? They don't bother Jim Lumpp, also known as May Lamar (because he wrote a fluffy romantic novel once and the publisher wanted a fluffy romantic name.) "I start with a character, usually a woman, and just let things happen."

Endings? "I'm not always sure how I'm going to find a happy ending. I've gotten myself backed into a corner a couple of times and really had to sweat it out," says Lumpp, also known as Delmar Kingsland (a street intersection near his home.)

Background material? No problem here, either. Lumpp has traveled. He's been to Europe. Hawaii, too. During World War II, he was communications officer to Admiral Chester A. Nimitz. (No, he's never used that for a pen name.)

Lumpp's pen names have appeared under the titles of such entertaining tomes as "Tight Skirt," "Hired Girl" and "Crossroads Of Desire."

"You can see why I don't use my own name," he adds.

"I've killed a child!"

"Never had an accident before. Never been in trouble with the law. Always tried to do right by my family and friends . . . they'll tell you. Now I've killed a child—just by taking a foolish chance."

Every day it happens, often just like that, to drivers who thought accidents happen only to the other fellow.

Remember this. No one expects to meet death on the road. Certainly no one expects to be guilty of causing it. Yet, last year 40,000 men, women and children died in traffic accidents.

Thousands of drivers—many who never had or expected to have an accident—found themselves guilty of killing someone on the highway. Most of these deaths can be prevented—with your cooperation.

BACK THE ATTACK ON TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

Here's how you can help stop traffic tragedies:

1. Drive safely and courteously yourself. Observe speed limits and warning-signs. Where traffic laws are obeyed, deaths go DOWN!
2. Insist on strict enforcement of all traffic laws. Traffic regulations work for you, not against you. Where traffic laws are strictly enforced, deaths go DOWN!

U. S. S. Wisconsin Is Outmoded; Goes to Mothballs

NEW YORK (UP)—The battleship once an "ultimate weapon" with a gun range of 20 miles, today sailed out of a world which now measures its weapon ranges above the stratosphere.

The U.S.S. Wisconsin, last of the U.S. Navy's mighty battlewagons, steamed into New York harbor for a final nostalgic visit before going into mothballs.

The band played "On, Wisconsin!" as the great gray ship tied up at a North River pier for her final public visitors. But the ship had nowhere to go except a naval graveyard. She will leave Friday for a four-month laying up process at Bayonne, N.J.

The Wisconsin is only 14 years old. But she's as out of date in the nuclear and Sputnik world as a model T on a superhighway.

Navy Secretary Thomas S. Gates Jr., in a message to the ship, said it "proudly yields to the successful introduction of nuclear power and guided missiles to our fleet."

Thanksgiving Turkey Plentiful and Cheap

By WILLIAM T. PLUNKETT

NEW YORK (UP)—Turkey for Thanksgiving will be plentiful and cheap this year—maybe about five cents a pound less than last

While food consumers have been sky - gazing, watching 'Sputnik and the cost of living index do unexpected tricks turkey prices have been going down

Gobblers in retail stores now are at a 15-year low and supermarket merchants indicated today they may be even lower in the weeks ahead

A record-breaking crop and a heavy stock in cold storage underlie the lowering prices

Housewives juggling family food funds can count on big supplies, not only for Thanksgiving but for Christmas and the New Year's holidays, market economists indicated

Turkey raisers this year produced a record crop of 81 million gobblers—5 per cent more than the 1956 record This year's crop has been unusually early. So distributors have been freezing the surplus in anticipation of the November-December holiday season when half of the supply is usually consumed

A big carryover stock from last year has swelled the supply. End-September stocks in storage were 33 per cent more than 1956

Big birds, tilting the scale at more than 18 pounds, will be in best supply and the most economical in price.

Home marketing economists said the lower prices for the large birds and the "greater proportion of meat to the amount of bones" made them the "best buy" for cooks serving a big dinner, or for next day warm-overs

While overall supplies will be more than generous, the proportion of small whites—under eight pounds—will not be as great The small birds have become very popular with small families and have largely supplanted big chicken on some dinner tables

Turkey prices now, around the New York metropolitan area are about two to four cents a pound less than last year On Nov. 1, the ready - to - cook turkey, under 16 pounds, in one leading supermarket chain was 49 cents a pound The large birds, over 16 pounds, carried a price tag of 45 cents a pound

Cranberries, the companion piece for turkey, will be in good supply, both canned and fresh The crop of fresh berries this year is expected to be 8 per cent more than 1956 and about 12 per cent more than the 1946-55 average

WED ANYONE—Constance Sandra (above) of Manchester, England, advertised that she will marry any man regardless of size, shape, age or color if he will pay her father's debts, amounting to $6,500. Which means Sandra, 20, would have to give up the law student she loves Sandra's father is Senegalese, her mother English. She's in a rush.

Ohio Hub of 'Big City'

CLEVELAND (UP) — Ohio is becoming the hub of a 1,200-mile land "city" stretching from Chicago and St Louis to New York City, according to two national advertising firm executives

Maurice F Hanson and Francis E Sammon both of the J Walter Thompson Advertising Agency, described the new urban development as 'Interurbia"

There is no longer a greater New York, or Boston, or Philadelphia or Washington ' they said "Instead, there is one 600-mile-long city stretching from Maine to Virginia"

In what they called "the most radical change since the industrial revolution this city-land is growing up the Hudson River Valley from New York City

Already one continuous city-area is the steel belt from the mines to the (Great) Lakes, from Pittsburgh to Cleveland" Sammon told the Sales Executive Club here

"Lansing, Detroit, Flint and Toledo represent another urban sprawl that may link with Cleveland via Sandusky and Lorain," he said.

This .. could grow toward the Chicago industrial belt... link south toward St Louis... and east from Cleveland across New York State's Mohawk Valley and down the Hudson to New York."

This growth would mean "new markets, labor forces, populations with a new mobility " Sammon said "Jobs are moving onto the country, families farther and farther from the central cities.

"Within these existing interurbias are half the country's population, more than half the retail—all on less than 4 per cent of the nation's land area "

State Education Press Director

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Pennsylvania State Education Association today announced the appointment of Frederick E Leuschner Harrisburg, as director of public relations.

Leuschner was formerly public relations officer for the state Civil Service Commission and news director for television station WTPA in Harrisburg

He also serves on the staff of the Pennsylvania State University Extension Center in Harrisburg as an instructor of speech

In his new post he will handle the PSEA public information program and serve as consultant to the association's Public Relations Committee

India Seeking UN Support for New Arms Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N Y (UP)—India sought support today for a plan designed to stop a threatened Soviet walkout from the U N Disarmament Commission

Informed sources said the continuing consultations may hold up votes on a number of resolutions on the arms questions scheduled in the General Assembly's main Political Committee today.

The Indian plan would expand the present 12-nation U N Disarmament Commission to a total of 21 members, including the 11-country Security Council and 10 other nations.

India is trying to compromise between Russia's threat to quit the Disarmament Commission unless its composition is changed and the western rejection of the Kremlin's ultimatum on the arms talks. The Indian efforts already have the backing of Yugoslavia and Canada.

Russia has proposed scrapping the present Disarmament Commission and its subcommittee of the five "atomic" powers, and replacing it with a new "permanent disarmament commission" including all 82 members of the United Nations.

The Indian plan was put before the United States and Russia Monday night. Thus far, there has been no public comment from either side but the fact that discussions continued throughout Tuesday indicated that neither had turned it down flatly.

New Missile Barge

TARPON SPRINGS, Fla (UP)—A missile — launching station to work in conjunction with the Cape Canaveral missile base will be constructed here soon, the Tarpon Springs Chamber of Commerce said Thursday. Chamber President Fred Howard said Air Force authorities told him the facility would employ about 150 persons and would be operated by Vitro Laboratories at the mouth of the Anclote River.

Almost a billion and a half pencils are used annually in the United States, or about eight pencils to every man, woman and child

KUHN — Mrs. Alberta L., 80, 106 State St., Belle Vernon, died Nov. 6, 1957 at 2 a.m. in the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital after a long illness. Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Freda Lutes and Florence Kuhn, both of Belle Vernon; two grandchildren and one great-grandchild. Friends are being received at the Toner Funeral Home, Broad Ave., Belle Vernon, from 1 to 5 and 7 to 10 p.m. Services will be held Friday, Nov. 8, at 2 p.m. from the funeral home, with the Rev. James Puz, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Belle Vernon officiating. Interment will be in Belle Vernon Cemetery. Harold R. Toner, funeral director.

2 Card of Thanks

BARTOLETTI — We wish to thank the many thoughtful friends and neighbors who extended us kindness in our recent bereavement, the death of our mother, Mrs. Maria Bartoletti. The ministrations of the Rev. Nunzio Pirulli, the Rev. Leonard Sanesi, the services of the St. Caietan Rosary Altar Society, the N.I.P.A., masses, floral tributes, expressions of sympathy, spiritual comfort, cars loaned for the funeral, and the aid of the pall bearers; as well as all those who assisted at the funeral will be remembered with gratitude.
Mr. and Mrs. Armand Tintori and Pete Bartoletti.

PATERRA — We wish to thank the many thoughtful friends who extended us kindness in our recent bereavement, the death of our husband and father, Sisto (Frank) Paterra. Masses, floral tributes, expressions of sympathy, spiritual comfort, and the help of all those who assisted with funeral services will be remembered with gratitude.
Wife, Clelia and Children

SUTELA — We wish to thank the many thoughtful friends who extended us kindness in our recent bereavement, the death of our mother and grandmother, Mrs. Matilda Sutela, floral tributes, expressions of sympathy, spiritual comfort, and the help of all those who assisted with funeral services will be remembered with gratitude.
Alfo Sutela and Mr. and Mrs. Gust Hahne and Family.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear daughter and sister, Delma Atkinson Mood, who died nine years ago today, November 6, 1948.
Gone, dear loved one, gone forever,
How we miss your smiling face,
But you left us to remember
None on earth can take your place.
A happy home we once enjoyed,
How sweet the memory still;
But death has left a loneliness,
The world can never fill.
Sadly missed by Mother, Father and Sister

In loving memory of our dear son, Melvin M. Zubritsky, who died five years ago today, November 6, 1952.
Dear little hands, we miss them so,
All through the day wherever we go,
All through the night how lonely it seems.
For his little hands not to wake us out of our dreams.
We miss him as others do sunshine and flowers.
Miss him continually in all of our hours.
Daytime or nighttime wherever we go,
Dear little son, we miss him so.
Sadly missed by Mother and Father

In memory of our beloved grandson, nephew and cousin, Melvin M. Zubritsky, who died five years ago today, November 6, 1952.
We had a little treasure once,
He was our joy and pride.
We loved him, ah, perhaps too well,
For soon he slept and died.
Lonely are our hearts today
For the one we loved has passed away.
Sadly missed by Grandmothers, Uncles, Aunts and Cousins

In loving memory of our dear husband, father and grandfather, Michael Komar, Sr., who died three years ago today, November 6, 1954.
Loving memories never die
As years roll on, and days pass by.
Deep in our hearts a memory is kept
Of one we loved and will never forget.
A grief, a tear, a thought sincere
How often we wish that you were here.
Sadly missed by Wife and Family

Church Group in Halloween Party

The annual congregational Halloween party of the Wyano Evangelical United Brethern Church was held last week. Rev. Ralph Brownfield offered the invocation.

Halloween games were played and movies shown by Ella Trimlath and George Smitley. The 48 people who attended the party were each given a prize. Lunch was served by the women of the church.

Mrs. Verna Mognet is a patient under observation at West Penn Hospital in Pittsburgh.

The Ladies Auxiliary to the Harry L. Handel Post of the American Legion of West Newton will hold its regular monthly meeting Thursday, Nov. 14, at the Legion Home on Main St.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Samios Jr., Vine St., attended the annual Halloween party of the employes of Swift Homes at Paule's Lookout in Dravosburg last Saturday evening. Games and fortune telling took up the greater part of the evening.

The following girls were awarded prizes: Karen Samios, prettiest; Arva George and Jaye Fedrow, funniest; and Cathy McCauley, most original.

Lunch was served by the committee mothers. They included: Mrs. Ella Fedrow, Mrs. Ruth Knopp, Mrs. Cleo George. Mrs. Grace Lowanse and Mrs. Lee Libbos.

Regain Control

SHARON, Pa. (UP) — Republicans regained control of City Council Tuesday by seating Basil C. Scott and John H. Evans. Scott, a merchant, and Evans, an attorney, easily defeated Democrats Joseph Fragle, an incumbent, and Michael Manila.

Your Health—

Ulcers Price of Success

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Development of ulcers does not automatically assure you of business success.

Success doesn't necessarily accompany ulcers. Frequently, however, ulcers do accompany success.

Many ambitious, hard-driving executives have ulcers. Emotions, you see, appear to be firmly linked with ulcer attacks.

Business competition or reverses, family troubles, even mild illnesses which interfere with everyday responsibilities, often are associated with active ulcers.

Ulcer patients, probably more than those with any other single ailment, require the sympathetic interest of their doctors A long rest, a vacation, even a visit to a doctor's office help an ulcer victim greatly, in most instances.

Medical aid, of course, is essential. If you have an ulcer, you should be under a physician's care. Psychotherapeutic help also might be in order.

A few years ago, a controlled experiment was begun. Two groups of ulcer patients each were matched for age, sex, duration of symptoms, complications and other essentials. One group received the conventional diets and drugs, the other got only advice and help with their emotional problems

Three years later two-thirds of those treated with psychotherapy alone showed X-ray evidence of complete healing. But only one-third of those treated with diets and antacids showed corresponding improvement.

We have long recognized the value of milk in treating ulcers. Now, there is some speculation as to whether the value of milk in relieving ulcers may be due as much to memories of babyhood satisfaction as to its buffering of stomach acid.

Probably the best treatment for ulcers is to combine medical relief of symptoms with psychotherapy for easing emotional tensions. Tranquilizers can be of help in this regard. Of course, readjustment of responsibilities, a vacation, and plenty of sympathy from the doctor are good medicine, too.

Question and Answer

F. B.: Can you tell me what causes a person to be a midget? Is it true tht premature babies are midgets?

Answer: The exact cause of all types of midgets is not known. One type is known to suffer from chondodystrophy, a condition affecting the cartilages in the body Another type evidently is hereditary. Such persons were not necessarily premature babies.

A fathom was originally the distance between the tips of a man's two middle fingers when his arms were outstretched. Later this was standardized to six feet.

In Hollywood—

Danny Kaye Likes to See, not Be on TV

(Vernon Scott is on vacation. Today's columnist is Danny Kaye, the reluctant comedian who refuses to appear regularly. Danny gives his reasons for skipping video.)

By DANNY KAYE

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — "What have you got against television?"

No, not you—me. What I mean is, this is the question that I am asked most frequently nowadays. Because I don't appear on television, 'most everyone I know seems to think I must bear some deep-seated grudge against the medium.

Danny Kaye

Actually I have nothing against television I watch it all the time.

But I don't want to be seen on it. And I have a lot of reasons. As a matter of fact, I could write a book about it. Oh, I know, you have seen me on television — on the Edward R Murrow program, "The Secret Life Of Danny Kaye," the one about UICEF and theN children all over the world.

Was On Film

But that wasn't what I would really call appearing on television. It was a filmed record of a trip I made around the world for the UN Children's Fund, not a "show" as an entertainer.

Why won't I make that kind of an appearance? For one thing, I enjoy my life very much the way it is. I like making motion pictures. I enjoy making the stage appearances I do. I get a great thrill from my work for UNICEF.

But I can't do all this and television, too.

In television, it's possible to take a complete unknown, surround him with top creative talent, money and production and, within four weeks, make him a national rage—a household word. If this holds true, it also must follow that in the same amount of time, television can destroy him.

Another point: A professional and polished performer can do a show on Broadway and be a smash hit. He can run in that play for years and gain an international reputation. Yet one television appearance—good or bad—by that same performer will be seen by more people than could ever see him in a portrayal where he has had months and years to arrive at perfection.

Mind you, I'm not saying that any of these points will keep me off television permanently. I just haven't made up my mind about it yet. Nor has anyone presented me with a show that I felt like doing on TV.

World of TV—

Ed Wynn to Be 71 This Saturday

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP)—This Saturday, Ed Wynn celebrates the 71st year of his birth. But even more important, this autumn also marks the first anniversary of Wynn's re-birth.

"I'll be 71," mused Wynn, "and here I am 56 years in the business and I find myself discovered all over again. It's like being reborn, you know. Do you know how many times I've been back and forth across the country this year? Six times. Why, I've worked more this year than the previous three.

"This renaissance — or whatever you want to call it—of Ed Wynn is a remarkable thing. I go out in the street nowadays and I seem to be as popular as Jayne Mansfield. Not as pretty, of course. But it shows the power of this medium, television."

No Requiem For Him

It was a dramatic role last fall on a "Playhouse 90" production of "Requiem For A Heavyweight" that jolted Wynn back to life as an entertainer. A giant of the vaudeville stage and radio, Wynn dropped into semi-obscurity after his NBC-TV show folded a few years back.

"It was in 1953 that my NBC show stopped,' recalled Wynn, "and I didn't work again until I did a Red Skelton show that November. Then, two months later, George Gobel, Las Vegas and another Skelton show a year or so later. But that's not much work.

"I didn't need the money, but you know it was kind of a funny feeling. That period was so strange. And dreadful. I started getting imaginary aches and pains in my body and the doctor would come and look at me, but of course, he couldn't find anything.

"But there was also this other feeling. Inside, I'd look at myself in the third person and say—'Ed Wynn, what has happened to him? What in the world has happened to him?' And I'd say—'Is that it for Ed Wynn?' You see, Ed Wynn isn't my real name (it's Isaiah Edwin Leopold) and I've always looked at him from outside."

'On Borrowed Time'

Wynn landed a small role in the picture, "The Great Man," when he was feeling at his lowest. "Somehow word leaked out that I had done this one big scene in the movie in one take," said Wynn, "and they asked me to do the 'Playhouse 90' before the picture came out.

"Well, the results of that one TV role was explosive. Really explosive. Everything happened after that. It's not like my radio days, of course, when I had two body guards to protect me —that's when I was the 'Fire Chief.' But it's certainly remarkable in its own way.

"And I think one of the most valuable things about it all is that it should give some pause to those who think a man's value to his society is somehow lessened when he reaches a certain age — the sort of thing that calls for the retirement of people in their 50's and 60's. It's good to upset that sort of conformist thinking.

"Now, look at me, almost 71 and here I'll be doing 'On Borrowed Time' on TV. After 56 years in the business, I've become a dramatic actor. 'On Borrowed Time,' Wynn said again. And he looked sad. "That's kind of an appropriate title."

Cotton is said to supply more than three-fourths of all fiber consumption in the United States.

HOW WE'RE KILLING OURSELVES OFF—These charts from the Health Information foundation, New York, tell you how and where we're dying accidental deaths by the thousands in industry and in the home. As you can see, most fatal accidents occur in the mining, quarry and oil and gas fields in industry, and in the home it's falls. Annual figures are from National Safety Council.

Steel Demand Expected to Keep Production Near Current Rate

CLEVELAND (UP) — There is a widespread belief that steel demand will keep production near its current rate until well into 1958, Steel Magazine said today.

Present rate of operation—80 per cent of capacity—should result in a year's yield matching, or at least approaching, the second-best figure of 115-million net tons set in 1956. The record year was 1955 with 117 million tons.

Continued downhill activity in the scrap market is the reason for the demand prediction, says the metalworking weekly. Despite dropping prices at a time of the year when they are normally on the rise, stockyard piles are growing as demand for steelmaking scrap remains low.

Scrap Price Dropped

The magazine's scrap price composite dropped to $35.33 last week—nearly $30 below the starting figure for the year. Last week's drop was $1.50.

Business is uneven for steel producers across the nation. The metalworkers' magazine reports some producers noting a decline in orders and a few cancellations showing up, while others say new business is picking up slightly.

Mills are up on deliveries, except for wide flange beams and heavy plates. The competitive, quick-delivery strategy has resulted in tight ordering by consumers, who don't want to tie money up in their stockyards. Consumers in states with year - end inventory taxes are especially sensitive to this motivation.

Production To Go Up

Ingot production rates will be affected by the quick-delivery trend but not enough to halt the slump of the last two weeks. In the first week it went from 81 to 79.5 per cent of capacity. The week ending Nov. 3 showed another half-point drop. Yield was about 2,022,000 net tons.

About 9.2 million net tons of steel were used in ingot and casting production during October. This is a larger monthly figure than the 8,995,000 tons during September. But September's daily average production was higher. Total production for the first ten months was around 96.9 million net tons.

In a special report on stainless steel, Steel issued an optimistic forecast.

A survey of 2500 metalworking plants indicates that the total using stainless steel should rise from 46 per cent to 68 per cent in the next ten years.

First Rocket to Crash Dec. 11

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UP)—The third-stage rocket of Russia's first space satellite will crash to earth Dec. 11, Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory predicted today.

The director of the observatory also said Sputnik II, the dog-carrying satellite, may be visible in parts of the United States Wednesday and Thursday mornings.

The prediction of the first rocket's fall came in a telegram to Smithsonian from Dr. Leland E. Cunningham, director of the computation division at the University of California.

Smithsonian Director Dr. Fred Whipple said he thought it impossible to say exactly where the third stage rocket will fall.

Reaches High Court

RALEIGH, N.C. (UP)—The case of seven Negroes, each fined $25 and court costs for trespassing at a racially-segregated ice cream parlor in Durham, N.C., has reached the state Supreme Court. The Negroes, one a Methodist minister, were arrested June 23 when they refused to leave a section of the Royal Ice Cream Co. reserved for whites.

Pennsylvania Farm—

State Christmas Tree Grading Now Underway

By UNITED PRESS

A Christmas tree grading program begins this month in Pennsylvania. The system is supervised jointly by the state Bureau of Markets and the U. S. Department of Agriculture. It calls for marking trees as U. S. Premium, U. S. 1 and U. S. 2.

The State Department of Agriculture said the voluntary plan would aid producers, consumers, and wholesalers. Poor Christmas trees are expected to be eliminated from the market by the establishment of specifications.

Bureau of Markets director John L. Rainey said that the grading plan was first proposed by New England tree handlers six years ago, and has since been adopted on a voluntary basis by many states.

Rainey said that the lateness of the program's adoption made it unlikely that many of Pennsylvania's trees would be sold this year on the standards basis. But he anticipated general participation in the program next year.

Christmas trees are now sold by the bundle. The quality of the individual trees is unknown.

Students

Pennsylvania State University today announced an increase of over 15 per cent in the number of graduate students in agriculture and an increase of almost five per cent in the number of undergraduates.

On the graduate level, 279 students are enrolled this year, 43 more than in 1956. Undergraduate students number 1,540, 70 more than last year. The freshman enrollment this year was up more than ten per cent to 546.

Last year Penn State ranked fifth in undergraduate enrollment among all land grant colleges in the United States.

Exposition

The Pennsylvania National Livestock Exposition opens the week of Nov. 12 in Harrisburg with 2,700 sheep, cattle, and swine competing for more than 75-thousand dollars in premium prizes.

More than 100 Pennsylvania exhibitors will be competing with cattlemen from 20 states and Canada.

The exposition offers the state's cattlemen their first opportunity to compete with out-of-state herders in open snow in Pennsylvania. The State Farm Show every January is open only to Pennsylvanians.

Negroes to Meet

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP)—Negro leaders will hold mass meetings in 11 southern states Jan. 20 in an effort to double the Negro vote in Dixie. Dr. Martin Luther King, Montgomery, Ala., bus boycott leader, said at the "crusade for citizenship" meeting that the January meetings will be held in about 20 cities in Florida, Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, Tennessee, Virginia and North and South Carolina.
